Plunge Claims Ralph Mueller

Cleveland, Ohio (AP)—Ralph S. Mueller, an industrialist and noted philanthropist, apparently leaped to his death Monday from a fire escape on the apartment building where he lived.

Police said Mr. Mueller, 88, had twice undergone surgery for cancer in the past year. He left a note on his desk but police did not reveal its contents.

Cuyahoga County Coroner Dr. Samuel R. Gerber will rule in the death.

A nurse, Mrs. Irene Gray, 65, said Mr. Mueller asked her to get a pair of gloves from another bedroom. When she returned, he had gotten out of bed and left the fifth floor apartment. She found the body.

Mr. Mueller, a native of Council Bluffs, Iowa, was the founder and senior partner of Mueller Electric Co. here. He contributed to many Greater Cleveland institutions and the University of Nebraska, from which he held two degrees, including an honorary doctorate.

Mr. Mueller's many gifts to the university include the carillon tower which has often been depicted as a symbol of the institution, and the Ralph Mueller Planetarium at the University of Nebraska State Museum which has served hundreds of thousands of visitors with sky shows.

Other gifts include a number of museum exhibits, including the Health Science Division, Ceres the transparent woman, and the barnyard animal display.

Foundation spokesman explained that Mr. Mueller has in the past several years left the university a total of $158,000 Endowment Trust Fund for exhibits and their upkeep. He is survived by his son, R. Scott Mueller, general manager of the electric firm, a brother and a sister. Services will be Wednesday afternoon at Knollwood Cemetery.

Interstate 80 Bridge To Reopen Monday

WORK STARTS TODAY

By VIRGIL FALLOON

Star Staff Writer

Deputy State Engineer Gerald Strobel said Monday an Omaha contracting firm has been hired to repair the damage to the Interstate 80 bridge between Omaha and Lincoln and predicted the superhighway will be re-opened by next Monday.

Peter Kiewit Sons Co. will commence hauling rock Tuesday, using rock and sheet wall to repair the bridge approach. Strobel said the emergency-negotiated contract with the Kiewit firm is estimated at $30,000.

Could Start Now

He said the Kiewit firm was chosen because it has the equipment and manpower and could begin immediately to get the job done.

Traffic on all lanes of the Interstate was closed Saturday when flood waters undercut the bridge approaches. Vehicles were being diverted to U.S. Highway 6 at Gretna and Waverly.

Meanwhile, Gov. Frank Morrison announced the U.S. Corps of Engineers has recommended that repairs to the dike along the Platte River near its junction with the Elkhorn River not be started until flood water has receded.

Morrison said the Corps has estimated upwards of $40,000 for the dike repair work, and federal emergency funds might be obtained for the work at the governor's request.

Flood waters cut a 100-yard wide hole in the dike, permitting water to seep out over the river bottom land and low-lying farms.

Water undercut the fill at the Interstate bridge approaches, causing some concrete slabs to give way.

The governor said bridge repairs being implemented are in accordance with the Army Engineers' recommendations, which he requested after viewing the situation by helicopter Monday.

Morrison said he would request federal aid in repairs to the dike because the state hasn't the financial resources to deal with that problem.

Earlier in the day, the governor indicated there was an urgency in getting the dike repaired because "a sharp melt or rains can cause further damage downstream."

"If the dike is not repaired expeditiously," he said, "we might find a new river channel on our hands."

PAYMENTS LOSS DOWN

Balance Best In 8 Years

... WAR EYED

Washington (AP)—The U.S. balance of payments made its best showing in eight years during 1965, but the administration is watching the Viet Nam conflict closely lest it reverse this favorable trend.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said Monday a review of the entire balance-of-payments program may be needed if the Southeast Asian conflict produces a larger than anticipated outflow of U.S. dollars for defense purposes this year.

To Stay Same

But he said no change is planned at the moment in the administration program to keep in check the flow of dollars overseas.

The 1965 deficit—the difference between U.S. spending abroad and foreign spending in this country—was officially announced as $1.3 billion. This is the figure forecast by President Johnson last month and is less than half the deficit for each of the preceding two years.

The best recent year was 1957, which produced a $520 million surplus.

Fowler ruled out any mandatory controls to stem the private flow of dollars abroad. The voluntary program initiated one year ago, he said, has been successful and is largely responsible for 1965 improvement in the balance of payments.

Two Cloudy Items

He said the two main imponderables are the rising balance-of-payments costs in Southeast Asia in both the military and aid programs and the direct and indirect impact of Viet Nam on the domestic economy and balance of trade.

At the moment, Fowler said, the administration still hopes to achieve equilibrium in the balance of payments this year.

By equilibrium, the administration means a balance somewhere between a deficit of $250 million and a surplus of the same amount.

$388 Million

For the October-December quarter, the Commerce Department said the seasonally adjusted deficit was $388 million—down from the revised $531 million deficit of July-September. The over-all deficit was $2.8 billion in 1964 and $2.7 billion in 1963.

Commerce Secretary John T. Connor called the 1965 figures striking and gratifying.

The footloose American tourist again was the principal contributor to the deficit as he spent $1.8 billion more overseas than foreign visitors spent in this country.

The balance of trade again was favorable with American exports exceeding imports by $4.8 billion.

IN EX-COMMIE VALLEY . . .

Cavalry, Reds Face To Face

Saigon (AP)—U.S. 1st Cavalry troopers grappled hand-to-hand with Viet Cong guerrillas Monday in continuing operations around An Lao Valley that since mid-January have killed 1,295 enemy troops and apparently scattered communist forces entrenched there for 11 years.

Reports from the 1st Cavalry base camp at Bong Son said in the day's close-in fighting the U.S. troopers killed another 29 Viet Cong, boosting to 703 their own kill of enemy troops in four phases of the An Lao operations. U.S. Marines, South Vietnamese and South Koreans accounted for the others.

About 40 miles to the south, Viet Cong road mines killed 34 Vietnamese civilians and wounded another 18 in a huge rice bowl recently wrested from communist control by U.S. and allied forces. The victims were in three buses on a road 10 miles from the rice harvesting center of Tuy Hoa. Strikes Limited

Heavy clouds limited U.S. air strikes against North Viet Nam. U.S. military spokesmen in Saigon said Air Force and Navy planes carried out 19 missions against coastal installations, particularly around Vinh, a railway and highway hub that leads to the south and the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the west across the Laotian border. The cloud cover prevented calculations of damage.

The 1st Cavalry's 2nd Brigade still is inside An Lao Valley, searching for communist forces and starting resettlement and civic action programs for civilians. The 3rd brigade has pushed out into dozens of tiny valleys that could afford the communists with escape routes.

It was in one of these valleys that the 1st Squadron of the 3rd Brigade's 9th Cavalry clashed hand-to-hand with Viet Cong guerrillas before dawn Monday.

Bash On Head
Sgt. Maj. Lawrence Kennedy of Amory, Miss., told of being tackled by two unarmed guerrillas. His M79 grenade launcher jammed, so he bashed the attackers on the head with the stock. Then he threw the launcher at them and ran. Later a cavalry patrol caught up with the two guerrillas and killed them, retrieving Kennedy's weapon.

In another incident in the clash, Capt. William Gillette of Suffolk, Va., shot a guerrilla in the face with his .45 from a range of two feet.

In Saigon, the government ordered Vietnamese military forces to begin civil action to win public support for the fight against the communists.

The defense department directive seemed to come as a direct result of the meetings in Honolulu last week of President Johnson and South Viet Nam's leaders. Johnson sent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman to South Viet Nam to foster programs to help Vietnamese civilians overcome poverty, disease and ignorance.

Sneezing Girl Comes Home With Hiccups

Miami, Fla. (AP)—June Clark, the sneezing teen-ager, returned home from the hospital Monday—sneezing a little less but frightened by a spell of hiccups.

The 17-year-old high school sophomore had been sneezing every 15 to 30 seconds for more than a month. Monday, her sneezing had tapered off to once every one to two minutes.

Her physician, Dr. Morton Hammond, said June is in "great medical condition," but added that the cause of her trouble still is not known.

The girl's mother, Mrs. James Clark, said June suffered a five-minute seizure of hiccups Sunday night that had everyone concerned. "I told her if she didn't stop, I'd murder her," her mother quipped.

Burmese Train Crash Kills 22

Rangoon, Burma (AP)—A passenger train packed with delegates returning from celebrations marking the Union of Burma's states jumped the tracks and plunged into a steep valley Monday 350 miles northeast of Rangoon.

Officials said 22 persons were killed. An announcement said the train was traveling at top speed when it lurched off the tracks.

Valentine Celebrates Its Day--Then Goes To Work

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Valentine — "You've gotta have heart . . ." goes the song. Valentine does, and hundreds of them were showing for Valentine's Day—in store windows, on parking meters, the mail box on Main Street, on street signs.

Valentine's Day has always been big here — especially since 1953 when George Tobin and Miss Zoe O'Keefe were crowned the first Valentine King and Queen.

But the city's heart was bigger than ever Monday as final centennial plans got under way in conjunction with the annual celebration.

"Let's Go To Work"
"Let's celebrate today and really go to work tomorrow," said Mayor Thomas Deakin during ceremonies from a Main Street stage.

The Chamber of Commerce, Cherry County Centennial Committee and nearly every organization and person in town participated in Monday's jam-packed day of activity.

Young people declared "Dress Up Day" and paraded through school halls and into classrooms brightly decorated for the occasion in red-studded finery.

The elderly were entertained in rest homes by the Newcomers Club, which treated residents of Hanson's Nursing Home, and the Mrs. Jaycees, who entertained at Pine View Manor.

Crowned Again
King Tobin, now 83, and a resident at Pine View, was again crowned and reigned over the party.

The 49th annual Valentine's Day purebred Hereford show and sale by the Northwest Nebraska Hereford Association filled the sale barn. Monahan Cattle Co. of Hyannis showed the grand champion bull.

Police Chief G. W. (Bill) Williams was busy arresting unsuspecting out-of-towners.

But just to show them Valentine's heart is in the right place, his summons carried only an invitation to stop for a free cup of coffee.

No fewer than 15 "valentines" — observing birthdays on this day of days—received special citations from County Centennial Chairman, Judge C. H. Elliott.

Why A Transportation Department?

... JOHNSON TO MAKE PITCH FOR IT SOON

By BEM PRICE

Washington (AP)—President Johnson is about to make another pitch to Congress for a Transportation Department.

Why? So who needs another federal agency when there are 35 already functioning in the transportation field?

If you travel frequently or are in the shipping business you already know the transportation business is feeling the strain of a booming economy and a rapidly growing population.

$6.6 Billion Annually

The federal government is now spending $6.6 billion annually on highways, waterways, ocean-going shipping and support of airlines.

Just to give you an idea of what the regulatory agencies are up against, there are 42 trillion freight rates on file in Washington covering every conceivable item and means of movement.

At the moment the private investment in transportation is $140 billion.

By 1980 the transportation needs of the nation are expected to double, assuming the economy continues to grow at the rate of about 4½ per cent annually.

By the year 2000 the transportation needs are expected to double again.

$400 Billion

A guess would be that the capital investment in moving people and goods in 1980 will be somewhere in the neighborhood of $400 billion. Double that and add what you think will be the cost of inflation and you can reach your own conclusions on what the investment need will be in 2000.

In 1950 there were $2.3 million units of transportation in the United States — automobiles, trucks, railroad cars, barges, ships and aircraft. In 1965 there were nearly 90 million automobiles and trucks alone choking the cities and crowding the highways.

Over the past 65 years the world has seen the development of two new and major forms of transportation — the motor vehicle and the airplane.

Two More

There are two improvements waiting in the wings.

One is the surface-effect ship which will skim waterways at 100 miles an hour, the other is the development of what is called containerized cargoes.

The surface-effect ship will ride on a cushion of air. While motionless it is a ship. At maximum speed it is an aircraft. Should it be regulated by the Maritime Administration or the Civil Aeronautics Board?

Sorensen To Reveal Plans Before Long

Li. Gov. Philip Sorensen will announce his political plans at a news conference later this week or early next week.

Sorensen said Monday that the time and site of the announcement have not yet been set.

The 32-year-old lieutenant governor is expected to seek the Democratic nomination for governor.

Sorensen, a Lincoln attorney and youngest brother of former presidential aide Theodore Sorensen, kayaked Republican Charles Thone of Lincoln in the 1964 general election.

Meanwhile, State Banking Director Henry Ley acknowledged that he has been urged to consider entering the Democratic gubernatorial contest. "I want to give it some pretty serious thought," Ley said. He plans to confer with Sorensen later this week to discuss politics in general.

Over the past three months agreements have been signed in Great Britain to begin an experiment in what the trade calls containerization.

Like Trailers

Goods are packed in standardized packages akin to the body of a big over-the-road tractor-trailer. This body can be fitted onto trucks, railroad cars, barges, ships and aircraft and might travel in all these ways on a single trip.

Since the container travels via assorted carriers, now regulated separately, which agency would have jurisdiction over rates?

In brief, Johnson and before him Presidents Kennedy and Eisenhower and others back to the 43rd Congress in 1875, have concluded there is a need for national policy-making machinery and coordination. It is now becoming acute. Kennedy asked such a department, but Congress did not act.

The new department would provide somebody to gather information on problems and then advise the president, especially on how federal funds can best be spent toward improving and promoting transportation.

What Johnson is expected to propose is not another huge regulatory agency, but one which would, among other things, lay down broad guidelines on national needs and then assign federal resources to help meet them.

Anna E. Roland filed a $25,500 damage suit in Lancaster District Court Monday against William T. Saul in connection with a Dec. 31, 1965, two-car collision.

Hubert Pledges U.S. To Hike Aid To Thais

Bangkok, Thailand (AP)—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey pledged Tuesday that the United States will give increased military aid to build up and modernize the forces of communist-threatened Thailand.

Humphrey and Premier Thanom Kittikachorn agreed there is "urgent necessity" to strengthen Thailand's defenses.

The U.S. pledge was contained in a joint communique issued by the two leaders at the end of a brief but active visit by the U.S. vice president to Thailand.

While in Thailand, Humphrey also flew to neighboring Laos for talks with Premier Souvanna Phouma.

The communique was issued shortly before Humphrey took off for Karachi, Pakistan, on the next leg of his mission.

The vice president was briefed during his stay in Thailand on slowly growing communist subversion in the impoverished northeast. This is an area just across the Mekong River from Laos, which has been battling communist insurgency for years.

The vice president accomplished several objectives with his 700-mile round trip to Vientiane, the Laotian capital, for a visit of only a few hours.

He restated to neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma U.S. determination to hold an unwavering course of supporting Southeast Asian nations against communist encroachment.

The Laotians, like the Thais, had been jumping about whether the Honolulu conference on Viet Nam had involved any unpublished discussions that might have unfavorable consequences for them.

Shows Interest

Humphrey demonstrated to Souvanna Phouma and his government the strong U.S. interest in various projects aimed at improving Laotian agriculture, education and public health.

Wants Tractors

During their private talks, Souvanna Phouma took Humphrey up on his offer to help. The premier said he wanted a large number of tractors to replace the Laotian young men "in uniform defending their country."

"As a matter of priority," Souvanna Phouma said, "I would much rather see tractors than guns coming in."

A third objective accomplished was to avoid bruising Souvanna Phouma's feelings—which some U.S. officials feared might happen if Humphrey had stopped in Thailand but had not paid a call at Vientiane across the Mekong from Thailand.

Souvanna Phouma, in an expansive mood, entertained Humphrey, special Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other Americans at lunch in his residence.

Dixie Songs

Souvanna Phouma welcomed Humphrey at the airport with a band that played "Marching through Georgia" and "Swanee River"—and a military guard of honor. Also on hand were 21 pretty girls with ceremonial gifts of flowers in silver vases. When Humphrey departed four hours later, the ceremony was repeated.

Luci, Pat To Marry In August

Washington (AP)—President Johnson's daughter Luci and Patrick Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., will be married at noon Aug. 6 in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, the White House announced Monday.

President and Mrs. Johnson will give a wedding reception in the White House for relatives and close friends after the marriage ceremony in the Roman Catholic Church.

It was emphasized that the young couple wants a church wedding, but with the emphasis on it as a family event, rather than a state occasion.

The White House said the nuptial mass will be offered by His Excellency Patrick O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, and that the marriage will be witnessed by the Rev. John Kuzinskas, assistant pastor of St. George Church in Chicago, a lifelong friend of the Nugent family.

The announcement came a few hours after Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Nugent, parents of the bridegroom-to-be, had left the White House following a week-end visit—and their first meeting in person—with President and Mrs. Johnson.

Luci, 18, is a freshman at Georgetown University School of Nursing. Pat, 22, now in the Air National Guard is stationed at nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

Mrs. Mossler Totters; Testimony Interrupted

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Another attack of nausea sent Candace Mossler staggering out of her murder trial Monday, breaking off the testimony of an Arkansas convict that he had been offered money to kill her wealthy husband, Jacques Mossler.

Circuit Judge George Schulz told newsmen later that if Mrs. Mossler is voluntarily hospitalized for treatment, he would recess the trial until she is able to appear.

There was no indication she would seek such treatment.

A bailiff, Oscar Shostack, said Mrs. Mossler collapsed in the judge's chambers and fell to the floor on her stomach. Her nephew and co-defendant, Melvin Lane Powers, was with her at the time.

Third Time

Schulz recessed the trial for the day—the third time proceedings have been interrupted by Mrs. Mossler's illnesses. Illness hit her a fourth time over a weekend when court was in recess.

Mrs. Mossler tottered out of the courtroom clutching for support at a red rope enclosing the press section.

The convict, 44-year-old Arthur Grimsley, had testified that Powers promised him in 1962 enough money to buy two Cadillacs if he would do the killing.

He Can Preach

Grimsley, who said he had since "accepted Christ as my personal savior" and was qualified to preach in the Methodist Church, said he told Powers he was interested in the deal. But an arrest in New Orleans took him out of circulation.

The witness, serving time in the Arkansas Penitentiary for burglary and grand larceny, had been on the stand about an hour and was under cross-examination by defense attorney Percy Foreman when Mrs. Mossler lurched out of her chair.

Mrs. Mossler was all smiles when she returned to court Monday morning and told newsmen she had received several valentines. In reply to a question, she said she did not get one from Powers.

En route to Vientiane, Humphrey looked down from air on eight projects or planned projects for highways, dam sites and a rural development. One was the site for a huge power dam to serve both Laos and Thailand.

On the way back to Bangkok, Humphrey was carried by helicopter across the broad Mekong to look at a Thai pilot project for bringing a measure of prosperity to the impoverished northeast.

The project, and others like it, involves building roads to connect remote villages with markets for their products.

Dry Paddies

He came down near dusk in dried out rice paddies, his helicopters scattering terrified water buffalo. There, he was briefed on the project by U.S. and Thai officials, mingled with the farmers and then waved good-bye. A transport flew him back to Bangkok.

In New Delhi a foreign office spokesman said Humphrey's visit to India beginning Wednesday had been slashed from the original three days to a day and a half.

Humphrey is due to fly in from Karachi Wednesday noon and will take off immediately for Ludhiana, 170 miles north of Delhi, to visit a family planning project and agricultural areas. He will return to Delhi the same night and fly to New Zealand after 24 hours in the Indian capital.

North Viets Find Out GIs No Playboys

Saigon (UPI)—A communist defector said Monday the North Vietnamese are not afraid to stand up to American troops because of indoctrination that "U.S. soldiers are mostly capitalist playboys who cannot fight."

He said this notion, however, was quickly dispelled in combat.

Another communist defector made available to newsmen said he saw an American pilot beaten by a group of civilians after he was forced to bail out over communist territory.

The communists were identified as Nguyen Van Vo and Hong Quang Tien, both members of the 325th North Vietnamese Division.

Tien maintained the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam has not frightened the population. It has simply made them angry, he said.

Vo said the communist soldiers soon "found out" the American soldiers "fought hard and brave—as good as we—and one of my buddies said they are damned good riflemen—contrary to what they told us that Americans do not know how to shoot."

But Vo said the North Vietnamese soldiers still had faith in what they believed to be their superior firepower.

Krall Will Carry His Campaign To All 30 Counties

Pawnee City — First District Republican congressional candidate Robert Krall of Lincoln Monday told an audience of Republican women that he will carry "a hard-working campaign" into all 30 counties of the district.

Krall said he is conducting an experiment in the primary "to see if economical, hard-working, personal campaigning will still work."

$30 Million Asked For Rent-Subsidy Program

Washington (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress for the relatively modest sum of $30 million Monday and fired up what may become another major brawl over his rent-subsidy program.

Congress authorized the program in a housing bill last year but refused to bill the funds needed to put it into operation after Republicans attacked it as a "grandiose scheme" that they said would benefit contractors, property owners and lending institutions more than the low-income renter.

Johnson said critics were misled by "false propaganda and misrepresentation."

In renewing the request, Johnson included it in a three-way package seeking a kind of $55.88 million for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

The two other items are $13.2 million for the National Teachers Corps, which also suffered a last-minute turnaround when Congress was preparing to adjourn last fall, and $12.68 million for helping the Selective Service System meet added demands for manpower.

An indication that the Republicans have not softened their opposition to the rent subsidy program came from Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona, chairman of the House GOP Policy Committee, who said:

"It is an inflationary expenditure at a time when we have all the inflation we can use. It seems to me this kind of thing can wait."

Tealeaf Tempest Bubbles Merrily

Saigon (AP)—The teapot in Saigon's tempest of tea leaves boiled merrily Monday despite a GI protest against the rising price of Saigon Tea—the thimbleful of beverage that comes with a pretty bar hostess attached.

It is through Saigon Tea that a GI gets the company of a bar hostess. If he wants female companionship, he must buy the girl Saigon Tea.

Some GIs—but not all—think the price for the stuff is too high—from 160 piasters, about $2 or more. A whisky and soda costs that much and a bottle of beer is the equivalent of 30 cents.

"Cheap Charlies," the bar hostesses call the protesting GIs.

A group of soldiers recently staged a three-hour drink-in at one cafe to emphasize their protest.

"What do GIs want?" complained pretty Co Hai, hostess at the Paris Bar.

"Saigon Tea not too much cost," said Nguyen Thi Hue of the San Francisco Bar.

A quick check showed that hostesses average from 5 to 20 Saigon Teas a day—or night—according to their looks, their charm, their blandishments, and their notions of acquiescence.

The mama san in most bars gave no evidence of being disturbed by the unrest among U.S. servicemen here. They smiled in ways that have been described as inscrutable.

One mama san said: "GI like bar girl. Bar girl like GI. No sweat."

Hard-Labor Sentences Given 2 Soviet Writers

Moscow (AP)—Two Russian writers who smuggled books out to the West were convicted Monday of spreading anti-Soviet propaganda and given heavy sentences.

The supreme court of the Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic sentenced Andrei D. Sinyavsky to seven years at hard labor. Sinyavsky published abroad as Abram Tertz, depicting Soviet life as brutal and corrupt.

Yuli M. Daniel, whose nom de plume was Nikolai Arzhak, got five years, also at hard labor. He had painted an equally unfavorable picture.

The two defendants pleaded not guilty and argued that they were entitled to artistic freedom of expression.

Article 70

Judge Lev N. Smirnov, highest ranking jurist in the RSFSR, the Soviet Union's largest republic, and his two lay assistants ruled that Sinyavsky and Daniel had done harm to their country by providing material that could be used against it. This, according to Article 70 of the Soviet legal code, constitutes a crime.

Both men are 40, married and have children. Their wives were weeping as they left the courtroom.

The court gave the full prison sentences asked by the prosecution, saying the testimony proved the hostility of Sinyavsky and Daniel "to the Soviet people, the state and the Communist Party."

Explanation

Prosecutor Oleg V. Temshin explained the demand for a longer sentence against Sinyavsky "because of his leading role."

The sentences, reported by the official Soviet news agency, Tass, and confirmed by a court official, did not include exile.

Sinyavsky and Daniel were secretly arrested Sept. 13.

The intellectual underground spread the word of the arrest and about 200 students staged a protest at Pushkin Square in Moscow Dec. 5, Constitution Day. Three of these students are reported to have been placed in insane asylums as punishment.

TARSIS CALLS TERMS CRUEL

London (AP)—Valeri Tarsis, who was allowed to leave Russia despite his anti-Soviet works, Monday night called the Moscow sentences against writers Andrei D. Sinyavsky and Yuli M. Daniel "inhuman."

The 60-year-old Tarsis has said he was the accepted leader of a new liberal underground movement in the Soviet Union against Communist restrictions.

Tarsis said, "The inhuman sentences passed in Moscow today are an attempt on the part of the Soviet authorities to return to the Stalinist methods of arbitrariness. They are revealing of the fascist extent of the Soviet regime."

LBJ Pondering Another TV Fireside Chat

Washington (UPI)—President Johnson is considering another one-hour, televised "fireside chat" with newsmen to explain his views on problems confronting the nation.

The program would be like the informal television "conversation" with newsmen that the late President John F. Kennedy introduced. Johnson appeared on a similar program in March 1964.

Johnson has not held a formal, televised news conference since last August. Instead, he has adopted the practice of summoning newsmen to his office on short notice to make announcements and answer questions. He held such an unannounced session last Friday.

REA Plant Ruled Illegally Built

Denver, Colo. (AP)—The Colorado Supreme Court ruled Monday that a Rural Electrification Administration cooperative illegally built a $30 million electricity generating plant in northwestern Colorado.

The steam generating plant near Hayden has been in operation since last July. More than $22 million in federal funds has gone into it.

The court ruled in a 6-1 decision that the Colorado-Ute Electric Association, Inc., with headquarters in Montrose, may not operate the plant.

The REA said in Washington there would be no immediate comment on the decision.

Arizona District

The court's opinion said that Colorado-Ute officials earlier had assured the courts that in the event of an adverse decision, such as Monday's, the Salt River Power District in Arizona would take over operation of the plant.

Attorneys for Colorado-Ute said no comment would be forthcoming until the decision is studied. John J. Bugas, general manager of the cooperative, was reported to be attending the national REA convention in Las Vegas, Nev.

The decision was greeted with gratification by attorneys for the Public Service Co. of Colorado and the Western Colorado Power Co., which had fought Colorado-Ute's petition for the Hayden plant in the courts and before the Colorado Public Utilities Commission.

Serve Big Area

Colorado-Ute and its member cooperatives serve a large, sparsely populated area of mountain and plateau country west of the Continental Divide.

The majority decision, written by Justice O. Otto Moore, said the Hayden plant "is not necessary to supply any present or foreseeable future electric requirements."

The decision said "Colorado rate payers should not be required to support" the REA-financed plant.

Appeal Possible

Attorneys and state officials said that because of the involvement of REA loans, the decision might be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. They also mentioned the possibility of an appeal.

for growth, cooperative spokesmen say, and private investment should be sought.

The decision to seek private investment will be a key one in the four-day convention.

A likely solution, say cooperative spokesmen, would be to continue the present government loan system for cooperatives in low-profit, sparsely populated areas, but establish a federal bank which would be financed by private as well as government funds.

Funds from the bank would be used by rural electric systems that can and will use higher cost growth capital, spokesmen say.

Power pooling and interconnections will be other subjects discussed.

More than 8,000 delegates representing 1,000 cooperatives were expected for the four-day convention.

Electric Cooperatives Independence Urged

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., told an estimated 8,000 delegates to the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association convention Monday they must seek financial independence.

"With many financial pressures being placed on the federal budget today, programs such as yours which have depended on government help will now increasingly stand on their own," Bible said in a prepared speech.

"We must look to the future with the hope you will see merit in becoming less identified with government."

Rural electric cooperative loans are financed exclusively by two per cent government money voted by Congress. But more capital is needed the Salt River District might buy the plant, or that Public Service or Western Colorado Power might wish to purchase it.

Bryant O'Donnell, a Public Service attorney, said he doubted the latter possibility would arise, "but if the opportunity were presented, the company would certainly look at it."

The court's decision said that "adequate electric service is already available in the State of Colorado for the needs and necessities of the proposed new customers of Colorado-Ute."

GI BILL MAY AID 500,000

Washington (UPI)—Veterans Administration officials said Monday that an estimated 500,000 ex-servicemen will take advantage of school benefits during the first year of the new GI bill of rights.

"Most of them will be going to colleges and universities," a VA spokesman said. Congress approved the new GI bill last Thursday and sent it to the White House. Although the measure is substantially more than he requested, President Johnson is expected to sign it into law.

Under the measure, an estimated 3.8 million veterans will be eligible for school benefits, starting July 1.

Serious Erosion, Flood Damage Affects State

... Snow Protecting Western Wheat Fields

Rain and warmer temperatures melted the snow cover in the eastern half of Nebraska and along the southern border of the state last week, with effects both beneficial and detrimental, government crop observers reported Monday.

The Tuesday rainfall was beneficial to crops, although some serious erosion and flood damage occurred in those areas receiving heavy rain, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Detour Aids Businesses On Highway 6

Greenwood — The detouring of Interstate highway traffic onto U.S. 6 was having a noticeable business effect here Monday.

"I wish they could close the Interstate and send them this way all the time," said William Conley of Greenwood, a service station operator.

A flood washout of a bridge on Interstate 80 led Saturday to the diversion of traffic onto what used to be the main highway link between Omaha and Lincoln.

From Ashland to Waverly, gasoline and coffee vendors who normally live mostly on local trade were smiling at the sudden turn of events.

"There are sure a lot going by, and we're getting a few," said Bernard Raiter as he tended pumps at an Ashland station.

Raiter said traffic over the weekend was so heavy it was dangerous. "People aren't used to driving U.S. 6 anymore," he said.

With the Interstate truck scale at the Greenwood interchange closed, the Department of Roads scale at Waverly was placed on a 24-hour basis.

'Rewarding Careers Awaiting Youths From Rural Sections'

Nebraska City — Despite the intense attraction of careers related to the Space Age, there are equally rewarding careers awaiting today's high school graduates with rural backgrounds and interests.

This was the message brought by Dean E. F. Frolik of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics to those attending the 23rd annual joint banquet of the Nebraska City Chamber of Commerce and Nebraska City FFA chapter. FFA members and their parents were guests of the Chamber at the late Monday night.

Respond To Challenge
Young people are responsive to the challenges accompanying what society recognizes and faces as major problems, Dean Frolik said. In the pre-Sputnik era of aerospace exploration, he re-

The rain improved soil moisture conditions but some drowning of wheat and alfalfa is expected in those low lying areas put under water. Elsewhere in Nebraska, a snow cover of one to more than 14 inches remains on the ground, protecting wheat fields in most areas of the west.

"Most of the wheat crop appears to be wintering quite well with adequate surface soil moisture supplies," the division said.

Other observations:

General farm and ranch chore activities took considerable time last week because of snow and mud. In the northeast, feed lots have become very muddy.

Feed Supply Adequate
In the range area, snow covered winter pastures have forced a high level of supplemental feeding but hay and roughage supplies appear adequate.

Reservoir water storage for irrigation purposes for western Nebraska's Platte Valley appears adequate at this time to handle 1966 crop needs.

The normal seasonal increase in calving, farrowing and lambing is beginning.

OLD BOWLING BAG SOUGHT IN COIN THEFT

Police Monday night were searching for a burglar who was believed to have stolen about $325 worth of old coins and currency from the apartment of John Buttery at 1741 K.

Capt. Robert Butcher said the coins were thought to have been carried away in an old brown bowling ball bag.

The majority of the loss was in old coins, Butcher said, with only about $40 in currency being taken. Butcher described some of the coins as "old Spanish coins."

Civil Defense Education For State Okayed

By The Associated Press

A federal aid project designed to provide civil defense education to adults in Nebraska has been approved. Rep. Clair Callan, D-Nebr., reported in Washington.

Callan said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) under the civil defense adult education program has contracted with the Nebraska State Department of Education for the civil defense classes in communities throughout the state.

$52,300 Aid
HEW will provide $52,300 in support of the program which will terminate at the end of this calendar year.

The classes will provide adults with a basic understanding of the threat of the nuclear age and methods of protection against the threat. The classes also will provide instruction to individuals who will be assigned as radiological monitors in shelters and monitoring stations throughout the state.

Callan also reported that labor Secretary Wirtz and HEW Secretary Gardner have informed him that a Manpower Development and Training Act project submitted by the Nebraska Employment Security and Vocational Education Departments has been approved.

The project will provide 32 unemployed persons with training as licensed practical nurses. The training will be conducted by the Lincoln public schools and cover a period of 52 weeks.

The project will cost $110,272, which includes $72,500 in training allowances paid to trainees, and $32,772 representing training costs.

Referring to the diverse interests of today's college students, he pointed out that agriculture is an application of all basic sciences to an industry. $600,000 Damage In Bluffs School Fire

Council Bluffs, Iowa — Fire inflicted an estimated $600,000 damage early Monday to the Roosevelt Elementary School here.

The blaze broke out before children arrived for classes.

Authorities said the fire apparently started in the boiler room area of the two-story brick structure, but the cause was not immediately known. It was spotted by the attendant of a nearby service station about 2:45 a.m.

Flames destroyed about three-quarters of the school in northwest Council Bluffs. The building had been constructed in four stages, starting in 1908.

Lester Andrews, business manager of the city school system, said the more than 600 pupils probably will start attending classes Tuesday on a temporary basis in other schools and in several churches which offered space.

The school contained classes for youngsters in kindergarten through the sixth grade.

Police picked up a man Monday for questioning in the brutal knife-slaying of 11-year-old Myra Gerling.

Myra's nude body, bearing 30 knife slashes, was found Saturday in a brush-covered vacant lot two blocks from her home in this small northwestern California lumbering town.

Police Chief Danny Nations would not discuss the suspect in custody beyond a prepared statement. It said: "At the present time a suspect is in custody and his activities are the subject of our intense investigation. Meanwhile all city and county law enforcement agencies are following through on the many leads we have."

Police and townspeople combed the vacant lot area without finding the murder weapon. Myra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gerling are formerly of Omaha.

Be Wary of Slogans

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Boning up a little on Canada in anticipation of a summer visit there, we came across the fact that the Liberal party is dedicated to greater provincial autonomy while the Conservative party looks more toward the direction of the federal government. This seems like a paradox in comparison with the U.S. understanding of the terms "liberal" and "conservative." Contrary to the course of history, a liberal in the United States has come to mean one with strong reliance upon the federal government.

The differences, however, are in the means, not the end. A liberal always has been and still is dedicated to the right and freedom of the individual but in the United States, at least, his manner or method of achieving this has changed. In the United States, the liberal looks to individual freedom through the elimination of natural or artificial barriers to full personal achievement. Thus, he looks to education as the means of eliminating ignorance and freeing the individual for the pursuit of objectives in harmony with his potential.

It is not difficult for us to be misled by slogans, sayings, names, etc. Many, for instance, equate federal aid with federal control, never bothering to analyze the facts involved to see if the equation can truly be balanced. Many assume without a thought that federal action of any kind erodes local authority and thereby encroaches upon the freedom of the individual.

Too often we take for granted the statements of people attempting to lead us to certain ends. In this way, we can fail even to know ourselves. Many Nebraskans, for instance, consider their state conservative, nearly a hotbed of such. But do they know what conservatism is and whether it applies here?

A Russian writer who left his native country for England last week commented that communism is just a name. What it is, he explained, is a police state. So it is with conservatism and liberalism—they are but names, frequently used by people to exploit the thinking of others and to serve their own purposes. Nebraskans who consider their state conservative might be amazed to read an article that appeared recently in America magazine. The article was entitled "Catholicism Midwest Style." The article was repeated in part in the Southern Nebraska Register and discussed by that newspaper's editor, Rev. Rawley Myers. The America article is summed up in the words of a writer who said: "The church in the Midwest has more vitality than the other parts of the nation."

The Register goes on to repeat this statement: "Conservative Catholicism in other parts of America has cramped the spirit and activity of the Church outside the Midwest. But these are the very things the hierarchy in the Midwest have encouraged." Another writer in the America article is a faculty member of the University of Chicago who says: "Mid-America has a more open society. And the church is more open. It can afford to relax, experiment, innovate."

"The Mid-American church has adjusted much more rapidly to the challenges of the New World and will probably adjust with greater enthusiasm to the opportunities of the New Church."

Another America writer states that Easterners say to Midwesterners about the church: "Oh, but you're 20 years ahead of us out there." And a St. Louis University faculty member states in the article that "there is so much going on in the Midwest that it is impossible to keep up with it. Most of the Catholic authors in the East make their living by writing and talking about what is being done in the Midwest."

After seeing such comments, said Rev. Myers, "one at first glance is inclined to ask, 'Is this us?'" Then he notes a few things to demonstrate the truth of what the America article conveys. He cites the New Cathedral of the Risen Christ as a "historic first" and its name as a manifestation "of our forward looking diocese."

Rev. Myers continues: "What other diocese anywhere near our size has a retreat house as fine as ours, or a school for retarded children? What other diocese twice as large as ours has as many outstanding, modern, up-to-date Catholic high schools as we boast? We could go on—but I think you get the idea."

Yes, the idea gets across. That Midwest and Lincoln diocese Catholics are progressive, are achieving things and have a bright future? That is only part of the idea. Midwest Catholics are Midwesterners, just as are Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota and Missouri Catholics. They are citizens just as are Lutherans, Presbyterians, Methodists, etc. They are Nebraskans.

They are not one thing as church members and another as citizens; they have no dual personalities. If religiously progressive, they are politically and economically progressive. If they, therefore, are not unique among their neighbors nor possessed of contradictory philosophies, Nebraska is not the citadel of conservatism that some would have us believe.

Nebraskans, Too

White Moves Up

Nebraskans hardly know their native son, Lee C. White, who, last week was named by President Lyndon Johnson to head the Federal Power Commission.

Mr. White was an Omaha boy, educated there and at the University of Nebraska. As a Nebraska law student he was editor of the Law Review. Just as his abilities were beginning to be known here, he was tapped for duty by the Kennedy administration. Now his skill has been recognized by President Johnson.

It is a matter of pride to Nebraska to produce White's type of man. It is also a great loss to Nebraska to lose him to Washington. Nebraska greatly needs the leadership of White and the many like him who at every turn of the calendar find the bigger opportunities elsewhere. A state becomes great by keeping its best men, especially its best young men.

This is one of the problems Nebraska must solve. We cannot continually skim off the young men who have the capacity to guide the state to a stronger position in the galaxy of states. We talk about it a good deal, but we haven't changed much. Perhaps our greater efforts toward more widespread education will result in the desired benefit. It will supply the men needed to help the nation with sufficient numbers left behind to help Nebraska. An answer seems visible in numbers, and we are beginning to achieve numbers.

Trial Or Sideshow?

Anyone who wonders what the fighting is all about between communism and democracy has his answer in the current Soviet "trial" of two Russian writers accused of aiding Western nations against the USSR. With the trial recessed for the weekend, the Sunday edition of Tass, official newspaper of the Communist party, condemned the two writers.

The article labeled the pair "slanders and renegades" and said they "gave ideological weapons to our enemy in its struggle against the Soviet country." A literal view of the Soviet Union could show that a citizen accused of a crime there is given a trial, just as they are in this country. But the trial often turns out in Russia to be more of a sideshow, another exercise in the art of propaganda.

What the judge in the above trial may think of it all, we have no idea but there was never any doubt what his finding would be. The two writers have been held guilty of the charges made against them and given substantial jail sentences. The Communist party has made certain of this through the auspices of its controlled press.

Whether guilty or not, the writers would receive a fair trial in the United States. A case may be inadvertently prejudiced in this country but prejudice such as the Soviets condone is sharply denounced in this country. There may be, too, some disadvantages to a free press such as we have in America but they are nothing in comparison with the abuse practiced through a controlled press such as Russia has.

The Big Stake

We recommend that every reader this morning carefully peruse the column of Marquis Childs, elsewhere on this page.

In our opinion it is the best and clearest statement of the western position in southeast Asia.

In the long range view we are pushing the Western shore into Southeast Asia in a grand scale containment of communism. We are protecting the sea routes through the strait of Singapore against easy access to India, Europe and Africa. We are building airstrips, and great harbors and other installations toward the day when the presently contested areas are free to progress in the western style and prosper from vastly expanded trade and sophistication.

Under historic conditions there will always be a shore between East and West. The West feels that it is better to have that shore in Japan, South Korea, Formosa and Indo-China than say in the Philippines, Hawaii or perhaps our California coast. This explains the frenzy of the communist resistance. If we win they have lost the world, and we have been winning progressively.

We are drawing the old colonial lines, but we are not anticipating colonialism. Those nations on our side of the line are to be free nations, oriented ultimately to our manner of living, enjoying the profits of our markets and experiencing a measure of prosperity and enlightenment far beyond that which they ever have had.

The Japanese army in World War II ended colonial possession by marching through Indo-China enroute to empire. With the Japanese defeat, Indo-China fell into a power vacuum. The French and the Dutch could not move back. Great Britain was too enervated. The task of the United States required the filling of the vacuum, looking forward to a post-colonial, improved society for that area—a free and prosperous society.

Oil Companies Buy Protection

Editor's Note: Drew Pearson's column today is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, under secret cross-examination, has divulged the startling information that American oil companies have been paying off the Viet Cong, thus contributing to the communist war effort in South Viet Nam.

The question was put to him by Sen. George Aiken, R-Vt., who had heard that the oil companies pay the Viet Cong not to molest their trucks and facilities.

Replying behind closed Senate Foreign Relations Committee doors, Rusk acknowledged that oilmen were known to be paying "tolls" for access rights through communist-controlled territory.

From intelligence sources, this column has learned that the oil payments are "substantial" and that, as a result, oil trucks are allowed to travel unhindered anywhere in South Viet Nam.

Service stations throughout South Viet Nam have been untouched. The great oil depot at Nhabe 20 miles from Saigon also has never been attacked. One source points out, however, that it is located in a "secured area."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Building In Asia For Permanence

HONOLULU — From the long row of windows in Admiral U. S. G. Sharp's office the view is out over Pearl Harbor and the sunlit sweep of the Pacific. As commander-in-chief, Admiral Sharp presides over an empire of 85,000,000 square miles, with American forces in the three services approaching the 600,000 mark.

So massive is the commitment to this empire that the Viet Nam war is seen as only one phase, if at the moment the most critical phase, of the thrust of American power. For better or for worse, the die has been cast. To reverse the drive for an American future in the vast area of the Pacific seems impossible short of a nuclear encounter.

Parallels are always dubious, but the central effort today is to do in the Pacific what the United States did in the Atlantic. That is to shape a new alliance and, to use a piece of government shorthand, build an infrastructure that will sustain it.

This is the chief objective of Vice-president Hubert H. Humphrey's current tour of Asia. It is first to wrestle up another 20,000 to 25,000 troops from America's Asian "allies" for the war in Viet Nam. But for the long pull it is to lay the groundwork for an alliance of broader scope and sterner purpose than the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

South Korea is expected to provide a second division of upwards of 20,000 men. Australia will contribute a second battalion and New Zealand may add a second small contingent. If present expectations are fulfilled, the Philippines will come through for the first time with 2,000 engineer-service troops.

There are times when both military and diplomatic officials talk as though Viet Nam were a lesson to be learned in the unending task of holding and consolidating the "free world" in the Pacific. They foresee that the next battleground may be northeast Thailand and not so distant, either.

Following a meeting of commanders from all over the Pacific, which coincided with the Honolulu conference, a new kind of cautious hope colors the outlook for Viet Nam. For perhaps the first time, military men speaking privately believe they have all the elements in readiness to do the job. By 1967 the Viet Cong will begin to fade away, not by seeking negotiation at a peace table, which no one expects, but by acknowledging they cannot win.

At that point the guerrillas may spill over into Thailand through the Laos corridor, the route today of up to 80% of the infiltration into South Viet Nam.

But it is in the thrust of the far-flung construction effort that the permanence of the Pacific empire is evident. Hundreds of millions of dollars are going into contracts with the great American engineering firms to build whole new harbors, docks, large military installations. And this is not in Viet Nam alone.

A new supplementary port is being built in Saigon harbor. Cam Ranh Bay is a construction rivaling anything in America. New jet airstrips cover thousands of acres. Unceasingly across the 8,000 miles of the Pacific ships and jet cargo planes — there is never enough space — carry the infinite variety of American productive know-how.

Here the commitment grows by the arithmetic of contract and profit. As more and more elements are involved the lasting nature of this Pacific endeavor becomes clear. Even in the improbable event that peace should break out tomorrow, the building of the infrastructure would go forward.

Patchwork Prairie Country

I was perfectly content with the light cover of snow on the ground and the quiet evenings spent at home while the cold winds blew . . . but that was before the recent weekend gave me a premature taste of spring. Balmy and warm, with a hint of spring waiting in the wings to make its debut, it sent me into a frenzy of wishful thinking. I wish the days would remain sunny and easy—I wish I could take a rake in hand and plant flower seeds—I wish I could cock an ear and hear the first dove call from the thicket.

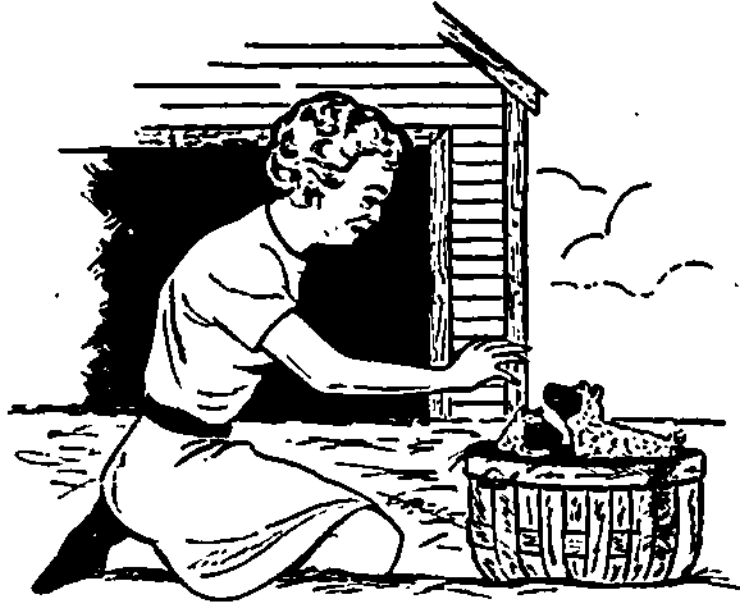

So, whatever winter has in mind, I hope it gets it over with in a hurry. My patience is growing thinner by the day, now that I have relished a hint of spring.

Duke was overcome by the warmth and stillness of the day, too. He was just plain lazy. He moved with the sun around the house and only barked half-heartedly when a car drove into the yard.

So many nice things are round—the ripples in the water when a stone or hook and line are gently thrown, wheels that rumble over the ground and balloons that toss about from a string.

I never grow tired of the soft roundness of a baby's face or the plump cushion heads of marigolds. How could we spare our round world as it spins in circles every day . . . or apples, oranges and pennies . . . ?

I like the roundness of little girls' skirts that swirl and little boys' tops that spin across the floor. There's the roundness of the holly snowman, so firm and solidly built by the neighborhood tots and the great wide circle tramped out in the snow where they play "Fox and Geese."

Roundness happens a million times . . . in smoke-rings that float upward and soap bubbles that drift gently over the water . . . in beads that adorn a maiden's neck or the face of a clock that guides our day . . .

Yes, I'm glad all things are not stiff and straight and square. It's nice to find so many things without sharp corners — things smooth and round. It's like touching the flower of a cactus without being stuck by the thorns — like touching the good things of life without feeling the sharp edges of living.

Early February is the time for lambs to arrive. A neighbor down the way has been sitting up nights to save the lambs that are born in the bitter cold.

One day I saw twin lambs, only a few hours old, huddled together in a bushel basket. They were on a bed of straw, quiet and well behaved. I had never seen lambs so young and was surprised that they were so small, although they were husky and healthy.

Their black faces were as soft as velvet with small beady eyes staring right back at me. Their wool was still curled very tight, making them feel somewhat like shag rugs. Within a few days, the wool fleeces out into a soft covering.

I could certainly understand why Mary let her little lamb follow her to school. I was so elated I told The Farmer we should go into the business of raising sheep. Baby lambs are adorable and would look so cute jumping over one another and racing around the yard this spring. Seeing them graze in our pasture would make our farm have such a quiet, pastoral atmosphere.

My enthusiasm was soon dampened when The Farmer began telling me that sheep get all kinds of diseases, are fussy and can't be driven. It soon became clear that he disliked sheep. In fact, he said, "Just hearing the word 'sheep' is as close as I ever want to get to raising them."

Liquor By Drink

Kansas City, Mo.

On February 5, I happened to be in Lincoln along with some friends. In the evening we decided to dine out at a local restaurant. When we got out for dinner, we were accustomed to having a drink with our meal. Being from out-of-state and not knowing Lincoln law on drinks, we were a bit confused and a little embarrassed when we wanted to order a drink and were told we couldn't, yet people all around us were drinking. The head waiter explained to us that due to a city law, the only way we could get a drink was to join the club for a year for a fee of $3. Since this is a small fee, we decided to join the club rather than have a drinkless meal.

I do a good deal of traveling throughout the U.S. and have never run into this problem before. I'm certainly glad not every city shares this viewpoint on liquor by the drink. We were told that serving liquor in restaurants was voted down by the non-drinkers of Lincoln. All I can say to such people is that they don't have to drink if they don't want to, but I personally don't think it's fair for them to dictate to others when and where they can get a drink.

In my estimation, a good drink never hurt anyone. JEANETTE HARTMANN

First Concern

Lincoln, Neb.

There is no greater need for people of Nebraska and the nation than to stem the rising cost of every facet of today's living costs. Have you ever tried to put yourself in the other fellow's shoes, the man with an average salary? He is living on a hand-to-mouth existence, and unforeseen expenses confront him, such as doctor bills, extra car expense and, if he owns his home, all the day-to-day needs that have to be met. Any conscientious individual must be aware of all the incidents that can disrupt the normal course of living.

For these reasons alone, it is vital that everything possible should be done to keep all costs from escalating until only a few are able to maintain their positions in security.

The welfare of the family man should get prior consideration over any and all other commitments, and anyone who thinks that other nationalities should get first consideration should not be eligible for any position of trust of the American people.

One good example: The money it costs for the vice president to be gallivanting around in Southeast Asia would build 30 or 40 houses for downrodden families in the Deep South. Let's give the hard-pressed a chance to help themselves.

The Difference

Scotia, Neb.

For the Senate investigation of the Viet Nam war, Senator Church told General Gavin that when Russia was threatened with nuclear war, they backed off and asked Gavin if he did not think that China would react the same way. I believe Gavin was reluctant to answer that question, but I may be wrong about his answer.

I'll add my five cents worth, viz.: The Russian people are generally "free thinkers" or if you prefer, "open minded" whereas the Chinese adhere to their ancient religious customs and ancestor worship. Therefore it is difficult to reason with them.

By virtue of their being the first known civilization, they claim that a large part of Russia belongs to them. Probably some of their ancestors' bones are buried there, which would give them a "squatter's right." I think that their lack of reasoning should be considered by our strategists.

Possibilities

Lake Worth, Fla.

For ages, earth dwellers have been staring speculatively at the moon across nearly a quarter of a million miles of space, seeking answers. Now, one can behold a lunar landscape in effect as plain a view as looking out the window across one's own yard at the fields beyond. But there is still room for speculation.

In the press photo The Star printed February 5, there are straight lines and corners to be seen in the structural substance conforming to a design too true and regular for haphazard upheaval, suggesting walls in the form of a square and built by human hands.

A fascinating speculation suggests that the moon was once densely populated before its water and air were lost, perhaps as long ago as the age of dinosaurs on earth. Maybe a great nuclear war destroyed both water and atmosphere. A major nuclear war might detonate our own oceans.

There may be traces of civilizations long vanished but leaving behind priceless secrets of life and all creation to be found by earth men soon landing on the moon.

Tax On Taxi More Than Value, Owner Contends

A Greenwood man gave his automobile to the State Board of Equalization Monday because he said his motor vehicle taxes totaled more than the market value of the car.

The state board said it could not accept the vehicle, a 1961 used taxi cab which has traveled more than 230,000 miles, and asked the Justice Department to rule on the matter.

The car owner, Eugene Austin, a 43-year-old utilities supervisor for the village of Greenwood, left title to the car with the board.

"As far as I'm concerned, you've got yourself a car," he told board members.

Austin later reported the auto was abandoned on a State Roads Department parking lot adjacent to the headquarters building of the Safety Patrol in south Lincoln.

He said the car, a four-door sedan Checker model, is not worth more than $10 on the open market, but is valued at $180 for tax purposes, requiring him to pay $18 in taxes.

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak said he "sympathized" with Austin's problem, but he noted state officials could not accept the gift.

Dworak said such problems cannot be avoided under the state's formula system for determining the valuation of cars for tax purposes which does not take into account vehicular miles traveled.

The board took under consideration Dworak's request that the same motor vehicle valuation formula be used this year as was used for the past tax year.

Also taken under consideration was the request of Blaine County officials that the board amend the record of testimony made by Blaine County Atty. Joseph Davis of Brewster last July.

Blaine County has appealed to the State Supreme Court in an attempt to reverse the state board's action last year increasing the value of rural real estate and improvements in Blaine County by 90%.

Speedy Cyclists Must Wear Crash Helmets

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

Drivers of motorcycles and motor bikes and their passengers will have to wear crash helmets if the vehicles are driven over 25 miles an hour on city streets, the City Council directed Monday.

No provision was made for the wearing of protective headgear at lesser speeds because City Atty. Ralph Nelson said he didn't think state law would permit the city to pass that type of blanket traffic safety legislation.

The ordinance, passed unanimously, was introduced by council vice chairman, Mrs. Helen Boosalis.

"Go That Far" Councilman John Comstock said he wanted to rewrite the ordinance to not allow the operation of motor-driven cycles without crash helmets at any speed. "I want to go that far to see if the ordinance would stand up in court," Comstock said.

Nelson said the ordinance in that form would probably not be sustained by the courts.

The council split, 3-2, in voting on two zoning ordinances which would change some residential property at the intersection of 48th and Adams to business use.

Delays Action
The lack of four votes either in favor or against will delay final action on the zoning changes. Mrs. Boosalis presided over the meeting in Mayor Dean Peterson's absence and could not vote. Councilman Carroll Thompson was also absent.

Voting in favor of both ordinances were council members Ervin Peterson, John Selleek and John Mason. Against were Lloyd Hinkley and Comstock.

Controversy centered on the effect business zoning would have on the surrounding residential area and on intersection traffic.

Favor or Denial

The City-County Planning Commission and Planning Director Douglas Brogren recommended denial of the zoning changes. "Continual changes of zone engender more," Brogren said. "These errors should not be repeated."

However, Peterson said he favored extending business zoning to the alley north of Adams St. "I think it makes sense and it complies with our long-range ideas on zoning," he commented.

A similar request for a change to business zoning on the northwest corner of 27th and South was approved by the council recently on a 4-3 vote. Mayor Peterson vetoed the ordinance and his action was upheld.

May Reissue Bonds

In other action, the council took under consideration a proposal to reissue $700,000 in hospital revenue bonds for the top three floors, now "shelled in" but to remain unused, of the new Lincoln General Hospital.

The second bond issue would be a private sale and would amount to "no change in the financing concept", attorneys said.

Other terms of the second issue, which was termed legally necessary by bond attorneys in order to satisfy title requirements.

The city would take title to the three floors.

Valid Agreement

There would still be a valid agreement between the city and the Lincoln Hospital Association whereby the association will pay all the interest charges on the second issue.

The association would own the bonds.

The city's name should be on the note because it owns the land and buildings, attorneys for the association said.

Also Monday council members expressed dismay over a planning commission decision to delay a recommendation on the feasibility of a ring of F restricted commercial zoning around the site of the new city-county building to be located at 10th and J.

Why Delay?
"Why the delay? . . . this is important," Comstock said. He also asked for immediate cost estimates for the beautification projects on J St. and 15th.

Council Denies Claim By Thoen

A $2,750 claim by Cliff Thoen alleging city negligence in maintaining storm sewers at 12th and O was denied by the City Council Monday.

The claim, filed last summer, was recommended for denial by the city legal department in an opinion which said no basis for negligence on the part of the city could be found.

Thoen, owner of Cliff's Smoke Shop at 1204 O, said he had informed the city of defective storm sewers and leaking more than five days before the damage was alleged to occur, on June 28, 1965.

Thoen claimed damage to carpeting, padding and merchandise.

Special permit to operate an off-street parking lot on the north side of N. West of 27th, and a waiver of front yard requirements on the same property, granted to Mrs. H. S. Town by the council last week, council voted to reconsider next week.

City Department Heads Again Ask Council To Widen Arterial Streets

City department heads Monday again urged, apparently without success, that the City Council authorize an increase in the width of arterial streets.

"We strongly recommend that you reconsider and increase streets to 48 feet from curb face to curb face," said traffic engineer Robert Holsinger. The maximum width of arterial streets is now 44 feet.

He said that traffic studies show that the present 10 foot lanes are not adequate, especially on Vine St. from 16th to 35th and South St. from 9th to 33rd.

Widening projects for both streets are in the advanced planning stages and the public works department has asked council approval for the additional width.

Council Gets Amendments To Charter

The City Council Monday began a detailed review of 35 proposed amendments to the City Charter.

Those approved will be placed on the May 10 ballot for voter consideration.

The amendments and six specific recommendations on city government advanced in resolution form are the fruits of more than a year's work by the City Charter Revision Committee, headed by attorney Richard Hansen.

A public hearing before the council on all amendments will be held before any are submitted to the voters.

The majority of the council agreed with one committee recommendation that no amendment be placed on the ballot to create a separate utilities board to direct the city water and light operation.

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley said he wanted an amendment considered which would provide that underground wiring for street lighting in new residential additions be paid for by special assessment districts.

Grenade Attack Hurts Paraguayans

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP)—Six Paraguayans and troops of the Inter-American Peace Force were slightly wounded early Monday in a hit-and-run grenade attack in downtown Santo Domingo.

Snipers also opened up in predawn darkness with a 50-calibre machine gun at a U.S. jeep patrol. There were no casualties.

These were the latest developments, reported by U.S. and peace force, military spokesmen. In the continuing violence in this city, where the death toll after five days of disorders stood at 19.

A policeman, an Air Force sergeant and an unidentified civilian were killed Sunday night in separate shooting incidents. The sergeant's body was emasculated by the civilians who shot him and another soldier, witnesses reported.

On orders of President Hector Garcia Godoy, in a move aimed at stopping the downtown violence, a new company of American 82nd Airborne paratroopers was ordered into the center of Santo Domingo. This makes a total of 330 Americans now on duty in what once was the rebel sector of the city.

Four policemen and one armed forces member have been killed since police Wednesday opened up with gunfire and tear gas to break up a communist-led student demonstration. Three students died as a result of the incident in front of the national palace.

Most of the capital appeared tightly shuttered by a nationwide general strike called by ex-President Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary Party and backed by left-wing extremists. The strike has hit hardest in government offices and state-owned operations, such as the sugar industry, chief producer of dollar revenue for this nearly bankrupt country.

American troops in the central part of town have been equipped with infrared antisniper equipment, it was learned reliably, for more effective control of nighttime operations by armed Dominicans.

Australia Currency Change, Bank Holdup Run Smoothly

Sydney, Australia (AP)—Australia changed to decimal currency Monday and everything went smoothly, including a bank holdup where the culprit escaped with 3,000 of the country's new dollars. The Australian dollar is worth $1.12 U.S. dollars.

The changeover from pounds, shillings and pence to dollars and cents has been planned for three years, but the switch will not be fully completed for another two years.

Observing reaction was a British delegation. Britain and New Zealand are now the only major trading nations still using the sterling system and New Zealand will convert next year. Britain is considering it.

The holdup took place at a branch of the Australian and New Zealand bank in suburban Cabramatta. A young man with a pistol scooped the money into a bag and fled. Banks, closed for four days in preparation for the changeover, had huge quantities of the new money on hand.

FBI Arrests Man In Feb. 8 Council Bluffs Bank Holdup

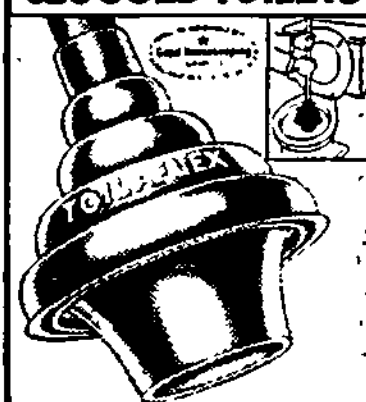

Omaha (AP)—The FBI announced Monday night the arrest of John Paul Budrevich, 58, of San Francisco, on a charge of robbing the Council Bluffs, Iowa, Savings Bank of $2,700 on Feb. 8.

Charles W. Bates, agent in charge of the Omaha FBI office, said agents arrested Budrevich outside an Omaha bar Monday afternoon. Bates said the FBI had recovered $2,300 of the money taken in the holdup. Most of it was found on Budrevich.

Bates said the search for Budrevich began after a man answering his description was reported spending considerable money in Omaha bars. Budrevich was arraigned before a United States commission in Omaha late Monday and waived preliminary hearing. He is held on $20,000 bond.

The $2,700 was handed over by a cashier at the bank to a man who demanded money under threat of shooting the cashier.

Comstock Raps 'Agreements' By City And Builders

City Councilman John Comstock Monday asked that "gentlemen's agreements" that are in violation of city ordinances between the city and builders be discontinued.

Comstock charged that he has found examples where the city building inspection department has okayed roof overhangs that extend more than the legal limit into the side yard area required by the zoning ordinance.

He asked for strict compliance with ordinances now on the books.

"We talk about fire protection," Comstock said, "and we are letting people put wood houses so close together that it is not in the public interest and I'm getting tired of it."

The only thing that looks low-priced on a Pontiac Tempest is its price sticker.

And that's removable.

Take it off, and there's just a pure, unabridged Pontiac: Crisp, Wide-Track style and handling. A handsome interior. Plus the effervescent performance of a new overhead cam 6 engine that puts out with all the spunk of an 8, yet saves like the traditional 6. And of course, being a Pontiac, Tempest allows you the luxury of choice—with options in engines, transmissions, suspensions, practically everywhere. And like all Pontiacs, Tempest also has a standard safety package with items like seat belts to buckle—front and rear. (That ought to do for now. We'll tell you the rest when you get here.)

T.B. Drug Discoverer Was 55

By ROBERT PETERSON

When I was a child the word tuberculosis carried an aura of horror. It was then — as it had been for centuries — the world's No. 1 killer, and the fact that its victims were often young made it all the more tragic.

Then came the miracle for which mankind had long prayed. It was Streptomycin — the first drug pointing the way to effective treatment of T.B. The patent issued for it has been called, "One of the 10 patents which has shaped the world."

What makes Streptomycin of particular interest to this column is that it was shepherded into existence by Dr. Selman A. Waksman when he was 55 years of age.

I recently visited Dr. Waksman at his office in the Institute of Microbiology at Rutgers University. He was born in Russia in 1888, came here as a young man, and received his higher education in the U.S.

How did Streptomycin come into being? "It's a long story," replied this man who looks the part of a famous old scientist with his white hair and mustache and kindly, searching dark eyes. "I've always been interested in soil microbes and believed they contained many mysteries which might serve mankind."

"An early clue was my finding that bacteria stayed away from tiny soil microbes known as actinomycetes—a group of microbes frequently spoken of as mold-like bacteria. As a professor here at Rutgers doing both teaching and research, I would often be diverted to other fields of investigation. But whenever possible I'd return to my studies of actinomycetes."

"My first indication that we were on to something quite significant came in 1938 when I was 50 years old. Experience gained in studying the metabolism of fungi and actinomycetes led me to believe these organisms possessed much greater capacities for producing anti-microbial agents than bacteria."

He went on to describe numerous studies and refinements which led in 1943 to the epochal discovery of Streptomycin. Between 1945 and 1950 many industrial plants were built throughout the world for the manufacture of this new drug which brought a definitive cure for the scourge of tuberculosis.

Seven years ago Dr. Waksman was required to retire under the university's mandatory retirement system. But this man who won the Nobel Prize for Physiology and Medicine in 1952 continues to work at no salary in his office and laboratory — having found aimless leisure a poor substitute for purposeful activity.

The major percentage of royalties from manufacturers licensed to produce Streptomycin goes to support the work of the university's Institute of Microbiology.

Dr. Waksman himself receives a fraction of these royalties — most of which he generously turns over to a foundation supporting research in microbiology and offering scholarships to worthy students.

There are still some who contend that genius and creativity are the exclusive prerogatives of youth. But the saga of Streptomycin proves that time, experience and maturity may be vital components in effecting truly great achievements.

Why Are You Ignored When You Talk?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self confidence and greater popularity. According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk. To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your request to: Conversation, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 8302, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do. Please include your zip code.

On the seaside rim of the city, the world's greatest surf booms in on miles of white beaches. Australia, the size of the United States, has only 10 million people. No factory smog. No river pollution. And room on the beach for everybody.

Sydney is in the same latitude as Los Angeles and is something like it was in pre-mog days: Palm trees, flowers, eucalyptus and that lazy summer weather.

With such summery advantages when the northern world is full of snow, the world's airlines are trying to push tourists here.

Their main problem is distance (9 flying hours from the West Coast) and price ($1008 from San Francisco).

But, as a Pan American man on this flight put it: "Once you're down here, it doesn't cost much."

☆☆☆ It's not bargain country. But prices are geared to the Australian income—average wage is $60 or half the U.S. workman's level.

Car prices are stiff with taxes and import duties for the Australian. It's kept the traffic down.

A Ford Galaxie costs $6400. The cheapest car you can get is the British Mini Minor for $1850. About a third more than in America.

Top hotels like the Chevron Hilton, with rooms overlooking Rose Bay, get $20 double. But restaurants charge about half States prices.

The beer is excellent and is Australia's preferred drink.

The wines are a sleeper here. Very good, but ignored by most Australians. They refer to it as "Plonk."

"No one has been bitten by a shark on a patrolled Sydney beach since 1937," said the patrol life guard.

We were watching the surf come in at Bondi a Sydney suburban beach.

The surf here runs four to six foot waves with steep shoulders. The kind body surfers need.

The life saving clubs are volunteers. They post flags showing the patrolled areas. Mark off places where rip tides develop. (Though they use the rips themselves to ride out beyond the breakers for surfing.)

If you swim at beaches like Bondi or Manly, you're safe.

They drag a mesh net through the water occasionally. Doesn't hurt the shark, but it catches on his gills and doesn't settle down.

"My theory is that meshing prevents a shark from setting up a domicile in a particular area," said Nick Goshen, a shark authority. "This keeps him from regarding anything that enters his area as an intruder who must be repelled."

This doesn't mean nobody gets bitten. There are miles and miles of beach, and you can see cars full of teen-agers, surf boards on top, cruising the beaches looking for the right waves.

Ron Taylor and Ben Cropp are young Australians making a business of skin diving to kill sharks.

They used ordinary spears to kill 12-foot whalers—had to strike just the right spot from five feet away. Later they used a shotgun shell on the end of a rod, an impact explosion.

Now they're experimenting with a syringe of paralyzing fluid on the end of a spear.

British Liberals, Laborites Receive Fulbright's Reply

London (AP) — Ninety-eight British Liberal and Labor legislators who sent Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), a cable saying they were against America's resumption of bombing North Viet Nam received a reply Monday sympathetic to their view.

Fulbright, chairman of the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in his cable:

"I deeply appreciate receipt of cable from you and other members of parliament who support position taken by substantial number of members of Congress on military activities in Viet Nam. I hope your members will urge peaceful negotiation route for all interested parties, as I believe interests of world community would be served by settlement without additional casualties by any parties."

The one thing no other life insurance company can offer your family...

...is a Mass Mutual agent.

There are, let's face it, a number of fine life insurance companies. Quite a few of them can offer you highly flexible policies. And, frankly, costs don't vary much from company to company.

But there is one big difference among life insurance companies—and that lies in the ability of their agents. They're the men who help you plan one of the most important programs you'll ever undertake.

How do Mass Mutual men measure up? Here are the solid facts on Mass Mutual agents compared with the industry average: Four times as many have achieved the Chartered Life Underwriter designation...five times as many have earned the National Quality Award...nine times as many are members of the Million Dollar Round Table.

Aren't these the kind of men you'd like to talk with about your family's future, your children's schooling, your own retirement—or your company's business life insurance needs?

Their outstanding record speaks for itself. It shows that Mass Mutual men are an elite corps of skilled professionals.

Every year thousands of Nebraska youth are thrust into the world educationally unprepared, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward W. O'Rourke told the annual meeting of the Town and Country Church Conference in Lincoln Monday.

Msgr. O'Rourke, executive director of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, Des Moines, Iowa, was a guest speaker, along with the Rev. E. W. Mueller, Chicago, at the Town and Country Conference.

Twenty-five per cent of the young who graduate from high school go on to graduate from college and get jobs, Msgr. O'Rourke said.

This leaves 75% without the benefit of a college education. Of that number, 5% will be self-employed or find suitable employment.

Outlook Dark

But, the outlook for the remaining 70% is dark, he said. To fight the problem Kentucky has a two-way system which allows a high school sophomore to decide whether he wants to follow a college preparatory course for his next two years in school or whether he wants to study for a vocation.

If the student chooses vocational training, he goes to school in the morning and to a vocational school in the afternoon. And he is encouraged to attend vocational school for a full year after completing high school.

Meanwhile, most Nebraska high schools continue to offer only college preparatory courses, he said, adding that Nebraska is far behind other states in education.

Msgr. O'Rourke, who spoke on "The Church's Role in the Changing Rural Community—A Sociological Perspective," pointed to Nebraska's tax structure as another weakness.

"Irrational"

"We all agree that it (the state's present tax structure) is irrational," he said, adding that property is taxed probably because it is the easiest thing there is to tax.

But, he declared, the amount of property one owns is no standard for taxation.

For example, he said, a farmer may own $20,000 worth of taxable property and have only a $3,000 per year income, while a lawyer may own only a $3,000 piece of property and make $30,000 a year.

"These are moral issues," he said.

Another problem facing the small community is the out-migration of the productive population in rural towns.

SHE DISLIKES TRAVEL

Caroline Cyr of Old Town, Maine, surveys New York skyline after returning from free air trip to Hawaii to promote tourism. The 27-year-old bank teller won the trip in a contest. She said, "I like seeing places, but I don't like getting there. I just don't like traveling."

ARTHUR M. DAVIS
Lancaster County Assessor

Msgr. O'Rourke said he heard one man make the comment that the Northern Great Plains, which is separated from industry, will be the Appalachia of tomorrow.

At another conference which he attended, Msgr. O'Rourke said an economist presented a depth study in which he proposed, without league in check, that certain areas of the Northern Great Plains be closed off to civilization and use of the area to be given over to raising buffalo for the benefit of eastern hunters.

In place of such proposals, Msgr. O'Rourke said much of the problem could be alleviated by making use of rural development committees and community action committees.

Nebraska, he noted, now has 20 rural development committees affecting 638 persons who have 47 projects under way.

Bridging Gap

These county-wide group activities have begun to bridge the gap among differing occupational groups, he said.

Also on the horizon is the possibility that the Food for Peace program, which last year shipped 1.6 billion bushels of grain to foreign countries, will double its shipments, thus hiking expenditures for the farmer's product.

'Church Must Become Active In Community'

God's struggle is in the community, not the church, some 100 ministers and lay persons attending the annual Town and Country Church Conference in Lincoln were told Monday.

While the church has the responsibility to build a meaningful relationship between God and man, it is also the responsibility of the church to become involved in community development, said guest speaker the Rev. E. W. Mueller, secretary of church in town and country, National Lutheran Council, Chicago.

The Rev. Mr. Mueller said that when a congregation leaves church on Sunday it is not disbanding.

Horizontal Relationships

He said it is going out into the community to perform its "horizontal" relationship with the church.

"The real work of the layman begins after the Sunday service," he said.

PETERSON: EXPANSION MAIN ISSUE

Val Peterson of Hastings said Monday that expanding Nebraska's industrial base is the No. 1 issue in the campaign for governor.

Peterson has filed for the Republican nomination for governor, a post he has held three times in the past.

"Nebraska must have a better balance between agriculture and industry," Peterson told a meeting of Lancaster County Young Republicans. "We are one of the most dependent states on agriculture."

While Nebraska is holding its own in industry, he said there is a need for more progress.

Peterson said he favors establishing more junior colleges in Nebraska.

At their business meeting, the Young Republicans named Mrs. Mary Jo Lahmers and John Hoerner of Lincoln as the outstanding Lancaster County Young Republican woman and man.

Delegates were selected to represent the group at the YR's state convention in Beatrice March 4-6.

$63,525 Granted To NU For Study Of Brain Activity

Washington (UPI) — Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., announced Monday the federal government has granted $63,525 to the University of Nebraska for study into the "development of brain electrical activities of infants."

Dr. Robert J. Ellingson, professor of medical psychology and associate director of research for the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute, will conduct the study.

The grant came from the U.S. Public Health Service.

NEWS

of activity in suburban areas

Another day and another Valentine's Day has come and gone. In Suburbia the special day kept everyone hopping as several get-togethers marked the special occasion—that particular day when hearts are to be happy.

And to help cheer the hearts of loved ones as well as friends, in poured greeting cards, flowers and candy—and what's left to day? Flowers with bowed heads, and a few pieces of chocolates are still left in that big red heart-shaped box. But activity doesn't stop with Valentine's Day—There are many busy people who have birthdays to celebrate and meetings to attend.

SOUTH HILLS

Busy with meetings and party plans of late has been Mrs. Wayne Multer. Mrs. Multer has been joined in her efforts to get the Mustang Club in Lincoln organized by Mrs. Robert Colin, Jr., Mrs. Tom Morrissey, Mrs. Rocco Manginelli and Don Cook. The organizational endeavors will come to light Wednesday evening when the group will meet for the first time at the WOW Hall. Those who will be in attendance will enjoy pizza, hamburgers, dancing, cards and shuffleboard. By the way, if you're interested in the membership requirements of this club we can tell you that all you need to own is of course, a Mustang automobile—simple enough.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stephens spoke before the members of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church last evening when they met for an informal dinner meeting at King's. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens spoke on the foster parent program and were joined in presenting the program by Mr. and Mrs. Dale LeBaron and Mr. and Mrs. Francis McNeil who are foster parents themselves, as are Mr. and Mrs. Stephens.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

Birthday news this morning comes from the Kimberly Heights area and from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Gabelhaus. Mr. and Mrs. Gabelhaus tell us that their daughter Mary became a teenager last Sunday when she observed birthday number 13. To celebrate the occasion Mary invited 13 of her girlfriends from Pound Junior High School to a slumber party at the Gabelhaus home, Friday evening.

But the Friday event did not conclude the birthday celebrating for Mary. On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Gabelhaus and Mary welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dinges and daughters, Paula and Jan for dinner. After a social afternoon and a late dessert of ice cream and birthday cake, Mr. and Mrs. Dinges returned to their home in Omaha.

On Monday evening, Mrs. Howard Frey invited Miss Cora Haymes to join her for a Valentine's dinner. On the social agenda for next week are the traveling plans being made by Mr. Frey's daughter, Donna Jean who, we hear, is planning to visit friends in Chicago, but more about that venture next week.

FIENE HEIGHTS

If you're interested in news that is very new and very exciting and is fun to hear about then lend us an ear because we have word of a new arrival in the Fiene Heights area.

New to the Fiene Heights surroundings and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cusick is the couple's very young son, Robert Arthur, who was born on February 6. Robert Arthur made his debut at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. When Mr. and Mrs. Cusick brought Robert home last Saturday the new baby received a very warm reception from his two sisters, Kathy—who is three years-old and from Connie who is two and we can't forget Robert's equally proud brother, Billy who is one year-old.

PLANS summer wedding

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Zoerb this morning are announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Angela Jo, to Douglas Forsberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Forsberg of Kearney.

The wedding will take place on June 26. Miss Zoerb's fiancé is a student at the University of Nebraska College of Business Administration.

Town Talk

Last Saturday, Feb. 12, was Abraham Lincoln's birthday—And as of last Saturday Mr. Lincoln's birthday will be shared by two Lincoln people—both in the same family. It seems that a debutant-like by the name of Nancy Marie Rice put in an appearance on Feb. 12, thus sharing honors not only with Mr. Lincoln, but also with her mother.

The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Rice, and her mother is the former Madeline Gourlay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gourlay—and Alpha Omicron Pi at Nebraska. In addition to the baby's two brothers—Bill and Jim, and her sister, Lisa, her family circle also includes her paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. T. Rice.

There's a party tonight at Hotel Cornhusker—The Rotary Club is entertaining its distaff side. But this party is not to be confused with just an ordinary dinner and such—Each lady is to receive a very interesting gift from abroad.

For the past three years the Lincoln Rotary Club, as a sort of getting-to-know-you gesture, has contacted 40 foreign Rotary Clubs. Each Lincoln man contributes a certain amount of money, designates from which country he would like to have the gift sent, and after all countries have responded, and after all of the gifts have arrived, the party is planned.

Foreign clubs contacted this year include Switzerland, Israel, South Africa, Australia, Belgium, Sweden, France, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, West Germany, New Zealand, Finland, The Netherlands, Austria, Italy and Japan.

And oh yes—Each lady is urged not to forget to write 'thank-you' notes to the Rotarian abroad who devoted his time to the selection of her gift.

BRIDE at candlelight service

Arrangements of white blossoms and lighted white candles formed the background in Christ Methodist Church Saturday evening, Feb. 12, for the wedding of Miss Virginia Jane Eisele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eisele, and Jimmie Kent Butler, son of Mrs. Leonora Butler of Ft. Collins, Colo. The ceremony was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Nye Bond.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Ann Marie Campbell of Greeley, Colo. Her sleeveless, long-skirted frock was fashioned of pastel blue satin, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white and blue-tinted carnations.

Serving Mr. Butler as best man was Jan Ashby, and seating the guests were Thomas Eisele, Robert Jackson and Robert Love.

The bride selected white Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding gown. Natural scallops of the lace edged the portrait neckline of the long-sleeved basque, and alternate tiers of lace and tulle added width to the skirt which brushed the floor at the back. A Dior bow of lace and satin held her bouffant veil of silk illusion, and she carried a white Bible ornamented with a nosegay of white roses.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Butler will make their home in Ft. Collins.

Opening lead — four of diamonds.
There is no question that some hands are more difficult to play than others. Here is one to test the mettle of any player. For a real test, the play should be planned without seeing the East-West cards.
A diamond is led and unless declarer climbs up with the ace he goes down. Thus, if he ducks, East wins with the queen and returns the eight. Declarer must eventually tackle clubs, and when he does, he is defeated.
The reason for going up with the ace is that declarer knows West cannot have the K-Q-J or he would have led the king. Hence East must have at least one honor and the suit is bound to be blocked if West has five diamonds, while South cannot gain by ducking if West has four diamonds.
The next play — whether to tackle hearts or clubs first—also has only one correct answer. A club should be led and finessed.
First, let's examine the effect of the club play in the actual hand. West wins, but can do no better than cash two diamonds. Eventually East gets the heart ace and declarer makes nine tricks.
Now as to why the club play is correct:
1. If West has the heart ace and club king, the contract cannot be made. This case is therefore dismissed from consideration.
2. If West has neither card, the contract is made regardless of which suit is played first. This case is also of no concern.
3. If West has only the heart ace, finessing the club wins the hand, though it is true that tackling hearts first would also succeed.
4. If West has only the club king, an immediate finesse is absolutely essential to make the contract.
Conclusion: The early club play may win the hand but cannot be the cause of losing it. The early heart play can lose the hand.

ABBY

tell your mother
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am not even sure how to put this, but it has been bothering me for a long time and it's come to the point where I have to do something about it. I have a girl friend. She is 15 (so am I) and we are always over at each other's houses. When I first met her father, I thought he was neat because he was so friendly. But he got to doing things I knew weren't right. Like putting his hands on me, and trying to kiss me. He never did this in front of anyone else. I tried to avoid him, but he'd send his daughter out of the room to get something for him. I pretended I thought his actions were all in fun, but deep down I was scared to death. I hate to quit seeing my friend, and if I tell her mother about this she will have his scalp. What should I do?
SCARED
DEAR SCARED: Don't worry about the old man's scalp. Tell your mother. If he's sick, he needs treatment. If he's just a dirty old man, he shouldn't be allowed to run around loose.
DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee and have been for over a year. I have two children, 5 and 3. I go out with a very nice gentleman once or twice a week, and he always insists on paying my babysitter. I live on a limited budget and this man makes very good money. A friend of mine told me that allowing my escort to pay my sitter is no different from accepting money from him. I never looked at it that way. I'd appreciate your views.
YOUNG MOTHER
DEAR YOUNG: I disagree with your friend. Under the circumstances, I see nothing wrong with allowing your escort to pay your sitter.
PROBLEMS? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

On Wednesday evening, at a 6:30 o'clock dinner to District III Blue Birds will be hostesses to their fathers be held at Gateway Auditorium.
Donn Davis will preside as master of ceremonies, and the program will open with a welcome by Mrs. Richard Daniel's group, and a response by Mrs. Layne Westmorland.
Group singing will be led by Dr. Wade Raser, and various groups will present songs, a folk dance and a skit.
The organization also is sponsoring a series of training workshops for group leaders, assistants and sponsors.

Boulder, Colo. (AP)—Hot-shooting Colorado opened up at the start of the second half and coasted to a 63-52 victory over Oklahoma State in a Big Eight conference basketball game Monday night.

Colorado tightened its defenses and hit its first six shots at the start of the second half for a 41-34 lead with Chuck Williams hitting four goals.

After that, the closest Oklahoma State could get was 52-47 at 8:09. Then Karl Tait and Chuck Gardner hit field goals and Colorado was ahead 56-47.

Iowa State faced a slick-passing, run-and-shoot band of K-Staters from the opening tip-off. The Wildcats never were headed and held a 12-2 lead before Iowa State hit its first field goal with 6:50 gone.

Boasting a 49% shooting average, the aggressive Wildcats posted a 47-25 halftime advantage. Coach Tex Winter cleared his bench in the second half with reserves playing more than half the way.

Sophomore Earl Seyfert, who has been a ringleader in K-State scoring the last three games, was top man with 18 points although playing only little more than half the game.

Sophomores Raul Duarte and Al Smith paced the Iowa State Cyclones with 15 each.

Although he has been relegated to a substitute's role the last two games, 7-foot-1 Nick Pino added 12 points and solid rebounding strength for K-State.

Chamberlain Tops NBA Scoring Mark

Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—Towering Wilt Chamberlain added another milestone to his legendary National Basketball Association career Monday night with a 41-point performance to set an all-time scoring record in Philadelphia's 149-123 victory over Detroit.

The 7-foot-1 pivot man brought his career scoring record to 20,881, four better than the now retired Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks. Chamberlain is now in his seventh year in the NBA.

Will left the ball game with one minute left as the estimated 5,000 fans cheered.

Throughout the first half, it looked as though the fans were in for a disappointment as Wilt was content to act as a playmaker and scored but 10 points.

But he warmed up to the task after the intermission, and in the last five minutes really went after the all-time record.

Along the line, Wilt became

Iowa State is 5-6 in the conference and 10-12 overall. K-State is 11-8 after winning its fourth straight conference game.

K-State hit 34 of 81 from the field for a 42% average while Iowa State managed 21 of 56 for 34%.

Guerin Signs Coaching Pact With St. Louis

St. Louis (AP)—Richie Guerin, the chunky fireball who has been both coach and star player to the St. Louis Hawks of the National Basketball Association, signed a new coaching contract Monday and said he would retire from active court duty after this season.

Both Guerin and Hawks' owner Ben Kerner said they felt Guerin could do a better coaching job if he didn't have to play.

"I've had 10 years of playing," Guerin said. "The game has been good to me. But I've had some injuries the last couple of years that slowed me down. I think this is the right time to step down. I'm ready to be a full time coach."

Guerin said coaching and playing at the same time had presented serious problems. "By being on the floor, I might miss some of our weaknesses," he said. "If I were on the bench, they would be obvious to me."

His retirement from the boards will leave Dave Dubach of the Detroit Pistons as the only player-coach in the NBA.

John McKenna Resigns Head Coaching Spot

Lexington, Va. (AP)—John McKenna, head football coach at Virginia Military Institute since 1953, resigned Monday to become administrative assistant to Coach Bobby Dodd at Georgia Tech.

McKenna's resignation was announced "with deep regret" by VMI's superintendent, Maj. Gen. George R. E. Snell.

The VMI coach, three times Southern Conference coach of the year during his 13 years at the institute, also will be Georgia Tech's freshman football coach and supervisor of maintenance for physical training.

Peru Assured Of Cage Title After Wayne Whips Kearney

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Peru clinched its sixth Nebraska College Conference basketball crown in 10 years Saturday with an assist from Wayne.

The Bobcats swept a two-game series with chief challenger Chadron 73-64 and 84-68, but Wayne's victory over Kearney, a third candidate for the championship clinched the title for Peru.

Chadron, 3-1 in conference play prior to last weekend's disastrous set, dropped into second place tie with Wayne, both with 3-3 marks in the league.

Kearney's loss plummeted it from a contender's role to fourth in the standings. Kearney moves into Chadron for a two-game set this weekend.

Wayne takes on Hastings, the 1964-65 champion, which is 0-5 in the season's NCC action, Tuesday night, and then meets non-loop foe Morningstar on the Iowans' home floor Saturday.

Peru tests Hastings Saturday, but the newly crowned champions can't consider it as a breather. The Broncos have a fantastic freshman center in Glenn May, who has shattered several Hastings scoring records, and can make it tough on any opponent which takes the Broncos lightly.

In the Tri-State Conference, Concordia upset Yankton, 57-56, on a desperation basket by Ted Henning. Henning led the Bulldogs with 17 points.

The three Tri-State entries from Nebraska may finally be ready to look like they belong in the league, after going winless throughout most of the season in league play.

Midland gained its third consecutive victory in the league, 68-66, over conference leader Sioux Falls, while Concordia's victory was its second, and Dana picked up its first win after eight straight league defeats. The Vikings, however, lost a ninth league encounter Saturday, 106-87, to Westmar.

The Midland victory came on a tipin by sophomore forward Dick Klinder as the buzzer sounded.

In other Saturday encounters, Doane nipped Hastings, 61-60; Washburn stopped Omaha University, 79-67; Norfolk JC blasted North Platte, 113-71; Powell rocked Scottsbluff JC, 93-77; and Trinidad, Colo., blitzed McCook JC, 72-61.

Graham Considers Buffalo, San Diego On Par With NFL

... AFL TEAM WOULD HAVE TO BE UP

Palm Beach, Fla. (AP)—Otto Graham, an outspoken man who never pulls his punches, said Monday that Buffalo and San Diego of the American Football League could compete with teams in the National Football League.

As Graham is the new coach and general manager of the Washington Redskins, these remarks at his first appearance in NFL surroundings were somewhat startling.

Graham had been on vacation in Palm Springs, Calif., when his appointment to a long-term contract was announced last month. Consequently, he agreed to meet the press at a news conference at the NFL meeting.

When a reporter asked Graham how the AFL and NFL compared, he replied: "If Buffalo and San Diego played any NFL teams on a day when they were playing their best game, frankly it would be a tossup."

Graham, former coach of the College All-Stars, had worked for the New York Jets of the AFL last season as a radio announcer in addition to coaching the Coast Guard Academy. In answer to a question, he said he certainly would like to have Joe Namath, the Jets' $400,000 quarterback, on his squad.

"I am going back up to New London, Conn. to finish off my Coast Guard business," said Graham. "I plan to move to Washington about March 1."

Graham said he already had hired two assistants, Ed Hughes and Mike Scarry, and had two others lined up.

"It would have been impossible for me to stay as All-Star coach," said Graham, "but I hope to be back in the All-Star game very soon."

The NFL championship team always plays in the All-Star game the year after winning the title.

"You know as much about the Washington team as I do," he told reporters. "I have seen them maybe three times on TV in the last two years. I expect to get together with Hughes down here and discuss our problems. Trades are always a possibility, but I have none in mind."

Graham said he would not have accepted the coaching job without the general manager's title. "If you have the responsibility, you've got to have a say-so in policy decisions."

Before accepting the Washington job, Graham had said repeatedly he planned to stay with the Coast Guard.

"They came to me," said Graham, explaining his change of mind. "I said I'd never go to college ball at the high level. I had no recruiting of any kind at the Coast Guard. I said I wouldn't take a pro job unless they met my demands."

"Well, I'm happy. I promise you I will be around for a time. The tough part of big time college football is recruiting and the alumni groups. But coaching is coaching anywhere, like Vince Lombardi says, the team that tackles best and blocks best wins. There is no secret. Get the right animals out there and have no key injuries and you win."

"I talked to Lou Saban when he was leaving the Buffalo pro job for the University of Maryland. Lou told me he thought I was making a smart move."

In Graham's days, under Paul Brown at Cleveland, he often rebelled at having his coach call the plays from the bench.

"I won't call all of them," he said. "If the coach sees something that looks good, he should send it in. My quarterback always has the option of checking off. Any quarterback appreciates help."

Graham said he had not talked to Sonny Jurgensen, the Redskins No. 1 quarterback, since he took the job.

"I know Sonny very well. I like him."

Referring to Jurgensen's tendency to stay in the pocket and never run, Graham said with a grin, "Maybe I'll make another Tom Matte out of him. I'll fix him."

Rice Defeats Total Just 27 In-A-Row

... NATION'S LEADING LOSER

Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Rice University basketball team has lost 27 straight games—currently the longest losing streak in the nation—but Coach George Carlisle still has his sense of humor.

"The other day," Carlisle said, "one of the kids got out his old high school scrapbook and thumbed through it. He wanted to see what it was like to win a few."

Carlisle has tried everything to break the jinx.

"I've tried giving them a pep talk. I've tried not talking to them. I've juggled the lineup. We've done everything to the point of being silly."

On the day of a game the trainer doesn't like the players to put sour cream on their baked potatoes.

"So before one game, I let them load up on sour cream," Carlisle said. "Losing does strange things to you."

The last time the Owls won was last year when they beat Trinity University 101-89 after a mid-term examination break. They dropped the next 10 games in that season and have lost 17 straight this season.

The all-time collegiate losing streak of 37 straight belongs to The Citadel. Rice can't break that record this year since only six games remain on its schedule.

The Rice problem may be just a little more painful to Owl followers because across town the high-scoring University of Houston Cougars have won 12 straight for a 17-4 record.

Carlisle, a successful high school coach, spent one year as Rice freshman coach and took the head coaching job three years ago succeeding the late John Frankie.

Rice, a member of the Southwest Conference, was losing ground in the recruiting race when Carlisle took over.

St. Boniface Places 3 On Conference Squad

Cedar Rapids — Elgin St. Boniface placed three members of its Cedar Valley Conference championship team on the all-tournament squad selected by coaches.

Joining them on the team were Rod McIntyre of Primrose, Mike Mackin of Greeley Sacred Heart, Terry Booth and Al Schmelts of runner-up Bartlett, Dan Matya of Cedar Rapids, Arnie Heli-busch of Belgrade and Tom Thompson of Wolbach.

Bernie Kluthe, Ken Vanourney and Hank Pelster were the St. Boniface selections.

If Farrell Competes In Race, Watch Out!

New York (AP)—Tommy Farrell won't know whether he will run against Canada's Bill Crothers in the New York Athletic Club Games Friday night until before the starting gun for the half-mile.

But if he does, it will be a clash between two of the world's best men at the distance.

"There will be no definite decision until Friday night," Steve Bartold, Farrell's coach at St. John's of New York said Monday. "As of now, he's running and defending. But we'll have to wait and see how the leg comes along."

Farrell, this country's best half-miler, pulled up a lame half-way around the first turn last weekend in a 600-yard run in the U.S. Track and Field Federation Invitation meet, with a slight cramp in the left leg.

"Tommy thinks he could have slowed up and finished the race," Bartold said, "but his decision to quit was perfect. We didn't want to risk damaging the leg."

His prospective race against Crothers, the lean, tough, Canadian pharmacist, had loomed as the top event of the potentially sparkling NYAC meet, and could be one of the highlights of the indoor track season.

They've run in the same meet four times this year—but never in the same race.

Crothers, silver medalist in the Olympic 800 meters, is generally regarded as probably the world's best indoor middle distance man. He's unbeaten at distances from 600 to 1,000 yards this season and has a career indoor record of 39.8.

Farrell has lost only once this season, aside from the race he abandoned last week. He was fifth in the Tokyo Olympic 800 meters.

The last time they raced against each other indoors was in the NYAC meet last year, when Crothers chased Farrell all the way to the wire, the St. John's runner winning in an indoor record 1:49.8.

Crothers had run himself into exhaustion in an extensive string of competition and had collapsed in a race the week before. He had been a questionably starter until just before race time.

So this year the situation is reversed. Crothers has been at home in Toronto for the last two weeks, shunning competition and quietly training for the rematch.

Ohio Klan Empress Denies LBJ Plots

Washington (UPI) — Sporting a big "LBJ for ex-president" button, the Ohio grand empress of the Ku Klux Klan emphatically denied under oath Monday that she ever plotted to assassinate President Johnson.

Mrs. Eloise Witte did concede before the House Un-American Activities Committee that she belonged to several right-wing groups and that she probably "raises more cane than anybody else in Cincinnati."

Mrs. Witte was accused in previous testimony of discussing not only the slaying of Johnson but of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Martin Luther King, another Klan leader and even her own husband.

Youth's Charge
The charge was made last week by Daniel Wagner, 20, of Columbus, Ohio, a fellow Klansman. Mrs. Witte told the committee: "I thought Danny was a psychopath."

"The blonde in her forties refused to answer any questions about the membership of the National Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. She cited the 5th Amendment protection against self-incrimination, saying it was the only legal way she could honor the Klan's oath of secrecy."

During her appearance, she alternately argued with the committee's acting chairman, Rep. Joe Pool, D-Tex., and answered questions with a big smile.

Before she took the witness chair, Mrs. Witte told newsmen she believed the goal expressed on the button on her coat lapel could be achieved "at polls or by legal means." She added: "I never plotted to kill anyone."

'So Comic'
Mrs. Witte said the testimony of Wagner and others "would be tragic if it weren't so comic."

The charges also were considered "ridiculous" by William H. Morris, the Klan leader who allegedly was singled out by Mrs. Witte because of resentment she bore toward him.

Morris told the committee he was the one who informed Mrs. Witte of Wagner's charges. "We laughed about it," he said.

Morris, 61, a roofing contractor from Buchanan, Ga., had only scorn for Wagner, who is awaiting trial on charges of armed robbery. Committee investigators were under the impression that Morris initiated Wagner into the KKK. Morris denied it.

Granting Of License To Eddie Gold Upheld

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin Monday upheld the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission's order granting a bottle club license to Eddie Gold at $750.

The court ruled that the City of Lincoln, which had asked for a reversal of the commission's order, did not introduce evidence of any ordinance of the City which it contends to have been violated by Gold.

Son Of Lincoln Couple, J. A. Hill, Dies In Burbank

While in school, he was active in Community Theater, University Players, Kosmet Klub, and the University Masquers. For the past three years, he had been doing theatrical work in California.

Survivors include his widow, Virginia; a son, Joseph, and a daughter, Shayna, all of Burbank; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill; a brother, Gary, and a grandfather, Dan Hill, all of Lincoln.

Utilities For New College Vex Beatrice Council

Southeast Nebraska Bureau Beatrice — Utility problems for the planned Pershing College continue to vex the City Council, the latest being opposition to a $140,000 plus sewer line prompted in part by the school.

An hour-long reading of a 26-page ordinance to issue $533,000 in sewer revenue and refunding bonds — usually a routine step on second reading — was forced by two opponents of the measure. As they did on first reading, Councilmen Ray Elwood and Eldon Gerdes refused to go along with a rules suspension.

The resulting 5-2 vote, one short of the requirement, also had the effect of forcing a special meeting called for Tuesday noon. Presumably, the ordinance will be passed at that time.

Favors Negotiation
Elwood argued for "negotiating" with the college to pay part of the installation, insisting that the sewers' purpose is only to serve the college. Board of Public Works officials acknowledged that "the college will be our first customer" but said it will relieve other sewers being taxed as the city expands.

Mayor W. W. Cook said the college "will pay its share" in sewer use fees, Elwood arguing that other property owners must pay this besides their initial assessment for construction. Councilman Harley Kollekowski defended the district as a rightful "concession" and other councilmen cited benefits to the community.

"It is a forward-looking step . . . including a college which will benefit every fellow at this table directly or indirectly," Cook said.

A similar squabble had occurred recently before a water line was approved to the facility, the college paying part of the cost after objections arose. There was little discussion of the balance of the sewer bond issue, to be devoted to several other projects.

A trailer permit battle which had reached District Court came back to the council but with approximately the same results as five months ago. Successfully resisting an injunction against locating four trailers on their four lots in south Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stone again requested permits which had been denied them in September.

Other action:
—Approved application for retail oil and gasoline licenses at 1101 South 4th to George and Edna Heltzschneider.
—Approved trailer court license for John Harry on West Court.
—Discussed but took no action on possibility of retaining all of Sixth and Court for business.

—Selected by 5-2 some $1,100 in engineering claims for Harold Fleming and Associates until evaluation hearings are held in accordance with council policy.
—Requested Board of Public Works to study streamlining consolidation of improvement districts to minimize amount of acreage interest.
—Referred to Board of Public Works four bids on truck and chassis for electric department, apparent low, Paul Henderson Motor Co. $1,712.
—Passed on final reading ordinance creating water main district 84 in south Beatrice, virtually identical to proposal to failing previously.
—Passed ordinance authorizing Police Department to tow and impound vehicles on which unpaid tickets are outstanding.

MALCOLM X WAS ARMED WITH TEAR-GAS WEAPON

New York (UPI)—Assassinated Black Nationalist leader Malcolm X was armed with a tear-gas gun when he was shot to death in front of 400 persons a year ago this month, a detective disclosed Monday.

Ballistics squad detective James A. Scaringe, the 20th prosecution witness in the 24-day-old murder trial, said he found a loaded pen-gun—a weapon used to eject tear gas—in Malcolm's left breast pocket shortly after he was killed.

Scaringe told the nine-man, three-woman jury he also found a leather holder with a tear-gas cartridge in the same pocket.

The 39-year-old Malcolm

Israeli Finance Minister: Taxes Must Be Raised

Jerusalem, Israel Sector (AP)—Israel's finance minister, Pinhas Sapir, said in the Knesset (parliament) Monday the government must increase taxes next year to meet rising costs.

The 1965-66 budget was $2.2 billion.

The 1965 Legislature had directed that the 1.6 million acres of school land be sold as leases expire.

Cooperative Council Concentrates On Lifting Young Farmers' Profits

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Nearly 500 members of the Nebraska Cooperative Council concentrated their annual meeting here Monday on how cooperatives can help young farmers make farming of tomorrow more profitable and what cooperatives must do to keep pace with the rapid changes in agriculture.

A panel of young Nebraska farmers suggested that participation by young farmers as associate members on cooperative boards trains young farmers to become better businessmen and develops the background for future directors.

Walter Jacoby of the American Institute of Cooperation, Washington, moderated the young farmer panel made up of: Duane Brugh, Republican City; Franklin Furrer, Lincoln; Ray Gard, Beaver Crossing, and Robert Raun, Norman.

Trains Us Right

Brugh, who said he is serving as an associate member on the Alma Co-op Board, said, "While we participate but are not voting members, it trains us young and trains us right regarding cooperative business."

Young farmers will demand more technical services and a voice in the operation of their cooperatives, the panel said.

Jacoby, summing up the panel discussion, said the future of agriculture depends upon attracting some of the nation's best young men to agriculture and then making sure they are supplied with services they need to develop profitable operations.

Members of the council took their first look Monday at a summary of Project Communications, which summarized the business development practices of 150 Nebraska farmer cooperatives.

The 77-page report showed that the older the farmer might be in a survey the more he believes that cooperatives are being operated successfully.

Not As High

The young farmers did not score cooperatives as high on service or informing the public as their older counterparts.

Cooperative officials said the study showed that farmers are not using cooperatives to the extent they should be using them.

The council, to meet the needs of farmer cooperatives, will begin offering public relations and business development counsel to every cooperative that wants to meet its challenges, said Gordon Busboom, council executive secretary.

Robert N. Hampton, director of Marketing Services of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, Washington, told the council that indications are that the U.S. Department of Agriculture is looking to cooperatives to lead in solving farm problems.

Size, Opportunity

Hampton said the cooperatives can provide the size and alternative opportunities which enlarge the farmers' voice and negotiating power in the market place.

"The key to cooperative growth and success lies in the ingenuity, the initiative and the sound planning with which we can approach these opportunities." Hampton said.

Officers named by the Nebraska Cooperative Council were: Walter Janssen, Ute, president; Gene Hansen, Ames, vice-president; and Junior Kitt, Stratton, secretary. Earl E. England, Harvard, is the past president. Gordon H. Busboom of Lincoln serves the Cooperative Council as executive secretary.

Ray Seeks Board Post

L. E. Ray of Grand Island filed with the Secretary of State Monday as a May primary candidate for the Board of Directors of the Nebraska Mid-State Reclamation District.

Urge Present Systems' Use

The Nebraska Telephone industry Monday urged the governor's communications committee to use existing facilities in a network for state governmental purposes.

The industry, in a special report, said construction of a separate network would be too expensive, would eliminate flexibility in managing the system and would duplicate existing facilities.

The industry asked the committee to defer action on a recommendation from a Kansas City, Mo., consulting firm that a new microwave system be built.

It said a new system would cost $12 million to construct. The consultant estimated the cost at $8,262,000.

The industry said the annual operation cost would average $2,400,000, but a system could be leased from commercial companies at $355,800 a year.

Katzenbach Asks Intelligent, Experienced Police Reporting

Washington (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach appeared Monday for vastly improved newspaper and magazine reporting that he said was essential to spur needed reforms in law enforcement. He said public attitudes toward crime were obsolete partly because of inadequate press coverage of police and prosecutors' work. Katzenbach said police reporters should be better trained for their job through formal courses in such subjects as criminal law, police methods and criminology. "Ripe for Progress" "Coverage of crime, just like the public's attitude to crime generally, is a subject ripe for progress," he said in a speech prepared for a dinner honoring the winner of the American Newspaper Guild's Heywood Brown Award. "The findings indicate the President's physical condition to be excellent, both from the standpoint of laboratory findings and our clinical evaluation. "The President has adhered to a reduction diet and has maintained his weight under 200 pounds."

'The Johnson Jump' Hops Onto Scene

Washington (AP) — The 1920s had the Charleston, the '40s the fox trot and now comes "the Johnson jump." Killer Joe Piro, of the discotheque set, demonstrated it Monday at a Heart Association benefit luncheon attended by about 1,000 women — including Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson. Before the event was over Killer Joe had the women on their feet trying out the swim, hitchhiker and the monkey, all variations of the frog. "The Johnson jump" turned out to be a combination of the old Lindy hop, the Susie Q and a few modern steps. Piro and his partner Nancy Montez ran through a rendition. Mrs. Johnson, the guest of honor as national honorary Heart Sunday chairman, joined in the applause and laughter—but didn't try out the dance motions. Killer Joe, who teaches many celebrities the new dances, was asked who he considers the best frog dancer in Washington. Without hesitating he named Luci Johnson, the President's 18-year-old daughter.

Poland Claims Difficulties Overcome

Warsaw, Poland (AP) — The government declared Monday Poland has overcome economic difficulties and, thanks to a good 1965, has fulfilled its five-year plan.

Overall production rose by 9.1% in 1965, while the national income increased by 6%, said a communique, issued by the central statistics bureau. It added that the past year was "prosperous for agriculture."

It gave these additional figures: Over-all production surpassed the five year target by 0.9%. Agricultural production (compared with 1964) rose by 8.2%.

The national income, however, rose by 32% instead of the planned 40%.

Wages were up by 8% since 1960, and the average monthly pay of industrial workers reached 2,175 zlotys ($90 at the official rate of exchange).

The state also boosted spending for education, science, culture and health services last year — 80 billion zlotys ($3.2 billion).

Now...for people over 40 only—

A board of doctors has created a remarkable new health plan just for you!

This valuable protection for the "danger years" ahead pays extra cash direct to you when you are hospitalized and—for the very first time—here is a Plan that actually pays money to help keep you well!

If you are over 40, you can qualify for the new 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN, if you mail your Enrollment no later than Midnight, February 20, 1966—and you can enroll for only $1.00!

This, surely, is among the greatest values, as well as the most unusual health insurance program, ever offered to men and women over 40! Think of it. Simply by the stroke of your pen, you can now get the valuable "extra" health protection you've wanted at the very time when you are most apt to need it...all at a cost substantially less than you might expect!

How the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN Differs from Ordinary Health Insurance

The 40-PLUS Benefit Plan has been created by an insurance company run by doctors, the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, which has specialized in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists exclusively for more than 65 years. Now this fine old "doctors company" offers a wonderful new health plan to men and women over 40! And you may enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period—without having to see a company representative or without any red tape whatsoever!

In short, if you are 40 or over, you can now qualify for 40-PLUS. No other qualifications are required—provided you apply during this Limited Enrollment Period.

How 40-PLUS Helps Your Doctor Keep You Well

As you know, and as your doctor will tell you, people who have regular physical examinations have a better chance to stay well and live longer. For example, doctors know that if cancer is discovered in its early stages there is a much better chance of curing it. To encourage you to see your doctor regularly, 40-PLUS will pay up to $10 to help pay the cost of an annual routine physical check-up. You see your own doctor any time within 60 days after you receive your notice—but only if you want to.

The doctors at Physicians Mutual also realize that you could be struck down by an accident or a sudden illness no matter how often you see your doctor or how careful you are. During the dangerous "after 40" years, particularly, you may require hospitalization at any time. That's why the program also includes valuable cash benefits.

How the Plan "Pays Off" in Time of Need

Here's how this valuable protection "pays off" in your time of need: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement, for as long as 52 weeks, each time you are hospitalized for a new sickness or accident! You get paid for every day you are hospitalized, even if you are in the hospital for only a single day—up to as much as $5200 for a full year! And even if you are hospitalized for a full year and have received your full $5200 in benefits, if you should be so unfortunate as to be hospitalized again—you are still entitled to all benefits all over again, as long as you have been out of the hospital for at least six months between hospital confinements.

Important: Here is a real "plus" for you if you have been told you are uninsurable. Even if you have suffered from chronic ailments in the past, the kinds of conditions that come back again and again or are likely to recur, 40-PLUS will cover you for these pre-existing conditions after your policy has been in force for two years.

Whether or not you have had a chronic ailment, 40-PLUS will cover you for any new accident or sickness. As soon as your policy is in force, accidents are covered immediately. After your policy is 30 days old, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter. There are only a few unusual exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder or alcoholism, or if something happens "on the job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws. You are free to go to any hospital of your own choice that makes a charge for room and board service, with these exceptions only: nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for treatment of tuberculosis, alcoholism, drug addiction or mental disorder.

40-PLUS and the "Danger Years"

Of course, like most people over 40, you probably have some hospital insurance. But, as everyone knows, even the most complete hospital insurance simply doesn't cover everything. The fact is, you need more protection.

But now that you're over 40, now that you've entered the "danger years," it may be difficult to obtain the extra protection you need at a price you can afford—or, because of the condition of your health, you may not be able to obtain it at any price!

That's why the new 40-PLUS Benefit Plan is so important to you—it brings you the hard-to-obtain "over 40" protection you need, at remarkably low rates. For only pennies a day, 40-PLUS will give you cash to help fill the "financial gap" probably not covered by your present health insurance.

And remember this—even if your basic hospital expenses are covered by your present insurance—you'll still need help with all your regular household expenses!

Think for a moment—if you're a husband, father and breadwinner, and you're suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Your income stops. Your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance," it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay. It's quite likely that you and your family will never fully recover the tremendous financial loss!

If you're a wife, mother and homemaker, and are suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Who will look after your family, see that the children get hot meals, are properly clothed? Who will do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? Your husband may lose time from his job...friends and relatives may have to help out temporarily...you may even have to hire full-time domestic help! Everything will be upset. Debts may be incurred, savings may be lost—worse still, peace of mind may be shattered, and even recovery can be seriously delayed!

But with the exclusive two-way protection 40-PLUS offers, you can now stop worrying.

Actually, important as all of these benefits are, they are far from the only advantages you can now enjoy...if you act before the enrollment deadline.

For example:

Benefits Tax-Free—Can't Be Reduced

For as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—and we guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. Furthermore, your benefits will never be reduced—and all your benefits are tax-free!

Carry Any Other Insurance You Want

Yes, the 40-PLUS Benefit Plan pays you in addition to any other health insurance you carry, whether individual or group—even Medicare!

Surprisingly Low Cost

With these wonderful "keep well" and "get better" benefits, you might expect 40-PLUS to cost much more than other health plans—but, in fact, it costs considerably less than you might expect! Only $3.95 a month from age 40 through age 64—only $6.95 a month when you are 65 or over—no additional premiums can ever be assessed—and, regardless of your age, your first month is only $1.00!

A Respected Company

Equally important as the exceptional value, the low cost, the ease of enrollment and the high benefits offered by the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN...is this vital fact: Your policy is backed by the resources, integrity and reputation of the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, "the doctors company," specializing in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists all across America, for more than 65 years. Doctors right in your own community know about us and may actually be insured by Physicians Mutual. (If this is the first you have heard of Physicians Mutual, it's probably because this is one of the very few offerings it has made to the general public.) Serving policyholders throughout the United States direct by mail, Physicians Mutual has its headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska, and is licensed and incorporated in that state. Its Board of Directors is composed entirely of respected members of the medical, dental and insurance professions.

How Can We Do It?

At this point, you may be asking yourself, "How can they offer so much for so little?" The question is a sensible one; but the answer makes good sense, too: By encouraging our members to see their doctors for routine check-ups each year...we hope to prevent the need for hospitalization in the case of a number of policyholders. This, naturally, should effect substantial savings—savings we share with you in the form of lower premiums.

In addition, we have lower sales costs. 40-PLUS is a mass enrollment plan. And all business is conducted directly between you and the company by mail. No salesmen are used. There are no costly investigations or any extra fees for you to pay. It all adds up to real savings we share with you by giving you top protection at lower cost.

Easy to Enroll—No Red Tape—No Salesman Will Call!

Simply fill out the short Enrollment below and mail it with $1.00 for your first month's coverage! We will issue your 40-PLUS Benefit Policy (Form P302 series) immediately—the same day your Enrollment is received. This automatically puts the policy in force. Along with your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Should you at any time need your benefits, you can be sure that your claim will be given "top priority" treatment. In addition, we'll see to it that you receive special forms yearly to take to your doctor for your physical examination.

When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is direct, honest, easy-to-understand. But—and please note this carefully—if for any reason you decide you don't want your policy, you may return it in 10 days and we will promptly refund your dollar!

Remember, the sooner we receive your Enrollment, the sooner 40-PLUS will cover you! So it's best you fill out and return your Enrollment now, before the deadline date arrives. ABOUT THE NEW 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN

The New Plan That Pays You Cash When You Are Hospitalized—Plus "Extra" Benefits To Help Keep You Well

- 1. What is the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN?
It is a new health insurance plan for people over 40 only—that pays an extra income direct to you when you are hospitalized and, in addition, provides a physical examination benefit each year to help your doctor keep you well.
- 2. Why do I need the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN in addition to my regular health insurance?
Probably your present hospital insurance won't cover all your hospital expenses. But even if it does, you will still need help to pay all your regular household expenses while you are hospitalized.
- 3. Can I collect even though I carry other health insurance?
Yes. 40-PLUS pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether group or individual—even Medicare!
- 4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?
No. The only qualification is that you must be over 40—even senior citizens over 65 are welcome.
- 5. If I become hospitalized, when do my benefits begin?
$100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement.
- 6. How long will I be paid?
For as long as 52 weeks (as much as $5200.00) while you are hospitalized for each new sickness or accident. If the full 52 weeks has been used, and the same condition recurs, a new 52-week period will be provided if there has been an interval of 6 months between hospital confinements.
- 7. When does my policy go into force?
It becomes effective on the date your Enrollment is received. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy has been in force for 30 days, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter.
- 8. What if I have had a health problem that may occur again?
Pre-existing conditions are covered after your policy has been in force for two years.
- 9. What conditions aren't covered?
Only the usual exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder or alcoholism, or any condition covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.
- 10. Does 40-PLUS pay in any hospital?
You will be covered in any hospital anywhere in the world that makes a charge for room and board service, except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for treatment of tuberculosis, alcoholism, drug addiction or mental disorder.
- 11. Can I drop out any time? Can you drop me?
No matter how many claims you make or how much you collect, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.

Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks will be sent directly to you.
- 13. How do I get my "physical" each year?
40-PLUS actually pays your own doctor up to $40 annually toward your routine physical examination (but only if you want it). You receive special forms yearly to take to your doctor, so that he can give you your check-up within 60 days.
- 14. Why are the premiums so low?
Because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used—our volume is higher and our sales cost are lower.
- 15. How much does my first month cost?
Only $1.00, regardless of age. After your first month, you pay only $3.95 a month until age 65; only $6.95 a month from age 65 and over.
- 16. Why is there a "deadline" date?
In order to offer the Plan to people over 40 without any qualifications and still maintain our low rate, we can only make the Plan available on this basis during a limited enrollment period. The deadline date is firm—we cannot accept your Enrollment unless postmarked on or before that date.
- 17. Why should I enroll right now?
Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.
